WOMAN'S CLUB WILL CHOOSE LEADER TODAY

Long Fight Over Presidency To Be Settled in Court-Supervised Election This Afternoon.

GOODMAN, HORNADY TO BE CANDIDATES

Balloting Will Be Open at Noon and Polls Will Close at 6 O'Clock, With Tellers in Charge.

The question of the choice of the majority of the members of the Atlanta Woman's club for president of that organization will be settled this afternoon in a court-supervised election, with Mrs. Charles Goodman and Mrs. John R. Hornady as candidates. The balloting will start at noon, and the polls will close at 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Denials of rumors that they might be placed in nomination as compromise candidates were issued Tuesday night by Mrs. Basil M. Boykin and Mrs. Irving S. Thomas. Both Mrs. Boykin and Mrs. Thomas said that they had not authorized anyone to place them in nomination, Mrs. Boykin backing Mrs. Goodman and Mrs. Thomas supporting Mrs. Hornady.

Nominations From Floor.

Nominations for the presidency will be made from the floor at a meeting to be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the club. Immediately following the nomination meeting, the ballots will be made ready, the banquet hall of the club having been prepared for use as the polling place. Hugh Burgess and Robert Ramspeck have been appointed by Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, as tellers of the election representing the court. Each candidate will be allowed two tellers.

No soliciting of votes will be allowed at the club house, under Judge Humphries' order for the election. When the votes have been counted, the ballot boxes will be sealed and returned to superior court. A total of 591 members are eligible to vote, according to Mrs. R. I. Reed, acting president. The registration list closed Saturday night.

Not Seeking Presidency.

"The article in an afternoon paper to the effect that I may be nominated for the office of president of the Atlanta Woman's club at the meeting Wednesday was without my knowledge or consent," Mrs Boykin said. "I am not seeking the presidency of the club, and would not accept such a nomination, even supposing it was offered me."

Mrs. Boykin said that she served the club as its president for two years "to the best of my ability and I feel that this constitutes all in honor that I am entitled to, and all in service

JAMES HOLLOMON SERIOUSLY INJURED IN FALL IN HOTEL

James A. Hollomon, associate editor of The Constitution, was seriously injured early Tuesday night in a fall into the stairwell of the Henry Grady hotel. He was taken at once to the Georgia Baptist hospital for treatment.

Mr. Hollomon had gone to the hotel for a conference at headquarters of the first agricultural congress of southeastern farmers, which is expected to form an agricultural chamber of commerce.

Concluding his business there, he and C. P. Byrd, another leader in the movement, left headquarters on the mezzanine floor and were descending the stairs on their way to the car of Mr. Byrd to go home, when the accident occurred.

Mr. Byrd said that Mr. Hollomon apparently suffered an attack of vertigo, stumbled against the railing around the stairwell, and fell two flights down to the coffee shop level, his body striking two high baby chairs which partially broke the force of his fall.

17 Killed in Crash Of Bus and Trolley In Blinding Snow

Impact Is So Great Electric Car Hurtles Through Air and Lands on Top of Auto.

DRIVER DECLARES HE STOPPED BUS

Looked Both Ways But Failed To See Trolley in Snow; 15 Injured May Recover.

Bellevue, Ohio, January 22.—(AP)—Seventeen passengers on a Greyhound motor bus, eastbound for Pittsburgh, were killed outright and 15 were injured when a Lake Shore electric interurban car, coming out of a blinding snowstorm, crashed into the bus on a double crossing a mile and a half east of here today.

The terrific impace came almost before the passengers in either the bus or the car had time to realize what was going to happen.

The snow was os thick that all was invisible beyond a few feet. Edward Butler, of Cleveland, driver of the bus, pulled within 20 feet of the interurban tracks, got out and wiped off his windshield, which had become coated with ice, and looked in both directions. He saw nothing.

Trolley Thrown Into Air.

Then he climbed into the bus and started across the tracks. When he was about half way the interurban loomed out of the fury of the snowstorm.

Thomas Schuyler, of Fremont, Ohio, motorman of the interurban, frantically shut off the power and applied the brakes. But there was no chance.

The trolley crashed into the bus squarely in the center, hurtled into the air and descended on the wrecked vehicle with such force that it obliterated everything but the chassis.

The mass of broken steel, which was all that was left of the palatial bus, was carried 20 feet under the trucks of the car and then landed in a ditch at the side of the interurban tracks. The electric car remained upright, and although its passengers were badly shaken up only two of them sustained injuries that were severe.

Autos as Ambulances.

There were 33 passengers in the bus, all of whom were listed among the dead and injured.

Two of the dead were carried with the wreckage and large jacks had to be used to hoist the car before their bodies could be recovered.

The passengers in the electric car began frantically to pick up the dead and the injured and passing motorists converted their machines into ambulances, augmenting the four ambulances in Bellevue which made repeated trips.

The dead were taken to the three undertaking establishments here and all of the injured were brought to the Bellevue hospital.

Of the victims, 12 were men and five were women. Because of the condition of the bodies and the lack of marks about the clothing, four men and two women remained unidentified tonight.

Belief that an eighteenth body remained under the wreckage was dispelled when the wrecking crew succeeded in removing a major portion of

MIAMI HONORS HOOVER PARTY WITH BIG FETE

75,000 Witness Arrival and Parade of Next President, Resting Until Inauguration Day.

12 BANDS BLARE AS TRAIN PULLS IN

Airplanes, Autos and Steamers Join in Welcome; Governor Carlton Unable To Attend.

Miami Beach, Fla., January 22.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, president-elect of the United States, and Mrs. Hoover gained the welcome greetings of 75,000 Floridians and Florida visitors during a brief public appearance on their arrival here today.

The Hoover party was welcomed with a roar from the throats of thousands of people lining the streets of Miami and Miami Beach as the cars bearing the visitors made their way along the crowded lanes to the president-elect's preinaugural home at the J. C. Penney estate on Belle Isle, here.

Adding to the voice of the crowd was the welcoming blare of a dozen bands and bugle corps, the explosion of aerial bombs, the droning of airplane motors overhead, and the occasional screaming of steamer whistles.

The official welcome to Miami and to Florida was extended Mr. and Mrs. Hoover as they dismounted from the nine-car train that bore them and the official party into the Miami railroad station sharply at 2 o'clock.

Here they were greeted by Morton Milford, editor of the Miami Daily News and member of the staff of Governor Carlton, who told Mr. Hoover of the governor's regret that he was unable to extend his welcome and

NAVY LIEUTENANT INJURED IN FALL

Four Bones in Back Fractured as Officer Plunges From Seventh to Second Story of Hotel.

Plunging from the seventh to the second floor level of the Cecil hotel early Tuesday night Lieutenant Peter F. Hunt, of the United States navy, suffered fractures of four bones in his back and was in a serious condition at Grady hospital early this morning. Doctors indicated, however, that despite the fractures he was in no immediate danger unless complications developed.

Lieutenant Hunt told Detectives Austin and Armstrong that he was leaning out of the window in his room when he lost his balance and fell down a court striking on the roof of the first floor. He narrowly missed crashing through a skylight into the lobby.

Attracted by the crash employees went to the roof, rescued the victim and sent him to the hospital. Here an examination revealed that aside from the back fractures he had escaped serious injuries.

Papers found in the officer's room revealed that he was a lieutenant aboard the U. S. S. Idaho and had been given a 10-day leave of absence from that craft on January 14. The ship was then in San Pedro, Calif., harbor. Under the heading, "reason for leave," on the papers, were the words, "My baby has been seriously injured while en route to Atlanta and my presence is urgently required."

Hotel employees stated that Lieutenant Hunt had been registered there since January 18 and gave his home address as San Diego, Calif.

Lieutenant Hunt, according to detectives, came to Atlanta to see his wife, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. E. M. George, of 690 Juniper street. Their young daughter, Marjorie, was injured in a fall some time ago, Mrs. Hunt stated.

SENATOR HARRIS VICTORIOUS OVER MELLON'S OPPOSITION AS DRY FUND INCREASE WINS

FIGHT ON M'BRIDE AS LEAGUE HEAD COMES INTO OPEN

Californian Seeks Removal of Superintendent; Dr. Barton Says Activities Unaffected.

Washington, January 22.—(United News.)—The proposed shakeup in the Anti-Saloon league gained headway today with a definite inner-council movement to curtail activities of F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, and appoint Rev. Edwin C. Dinwiddie as legislative superintendent of the league to take over some of the work now under McBride's jurisdiction.

Some officials of the league regard the action of Bishops Nicholson, president, and Cannon, of the executive committee, in condemning Secretary of Treasury Mellon's stand against the proposed $24,000,000 additional prohibition appropriation after McBride sided with Mellon as a repudiation of the general superintendent.

Must Quit or Fight.

"There are only two things McBride can do in view of the bishops' action." Dr. A. H. Briggs, director of the league and superintendent of the California division, told the United News. "He can step down gracefully or fight."

Briggs said there were "certain internal situations" in the league which might become critical.

"Under the present system the league is a one-man organization and the league is too big for one man to handle. What we need is a complete change to make it a democratic organization." Critics of McBride, who assumed leadership in the league following the death of Wayne B. Wheeler, say he has made conflicting statements on the $24,000,000 appropriation and has made numerous speaking trips away from the capital which have jeopardized the dry leadership of the league. They believe he has neglected his legislative duties because of pressure of work as general superintendent and that he should resign as legislative representative.

But, according to those close to the inner-council, McBride will not relinquish the coveted position, regarded as the most powerful in the league, without a fight which may shake the dry organization to its very foundations.

Is Virtual Dictator.

Both the general superintendent and those seeking to oust him as legislative representative are firmly entrenched with large groups of supporters within the league.

All factions appear willing to permit McBride to continue as general superintendent, a purely administrative position, but a strong group of directors are in favor of curtailing his power and authority.

Under the league's constitution, the general superintendent is a virtual dictator. He can appoint state superintendents and if the appointments are refused by the board of directors can carry the appointments to the executive committee. McBride is said to control the present committee.

If Rev. Dinwiddie is appointed legislative superintendent of the league he will resume a post he held for 21 years prior to the time he was ousted in 1910 by Wayne B. Wheeler. At the present time he is serving as legislative representative for 20 dry organizations.

The movement to join all prohibition organizations under one head, with the league as an integral part, has found favor with many dry leaders.

ACTIVITIES NOT AFFECTED DECLARES DR. BARTON.

Dr. Arthur J. Barton, chairman of the national executive committee of the Anti-Saloon league, issued a statement in Atlanta saying that the apparent "difference in judgment" between high officials of the league over a proposal to increase the appropriation for prohibition enforcement $25,000,000 "is not strange among men of strong personalities and convictions."

He added that it "will not in any way affect the activities of the league."

"I do not think there is any 'row' among the league officials or that

Councilman John A. White Falls Victim to Dan Cupid

City hall newlyweds, whose wedding was performed Tuesday afternoon at the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church. Councilman John A. White is the groom, while the bride is the former Miss Lenora Pearson. Photo of Mrs. White by McCrary studio.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

City hall circles were ruthlessly invaded Tuesday by none other than one Dan Cupid, himself, who selected as the victim of his darts John A. White, councilman from the fourth ward, one of the most popular and progressive members of city council, and a prominent Atlanta real estate man.

This is just another way of saying that Mr. White was married during the afternoon to Miss Lenora Pearson, beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Pearson, of 777 Argonne avenue.

The wedding ceremony was performed at the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church by the Rev. Dr. L. R. Christie, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. White will be at home to their friends at 301 McKenzie drive.

Rumors of the wedding had been current at the city hall for several days, but the couple surprised their

GLASS AMENDMENT IS ALSO PASSED

Hoover Will Get Two Funds To Assist Plans for Studying and Enforcing Prohibition.

Washington, January 22.—(AP)—The president of the United States was voted $24,000,000 by the senate today for use in an attempt to enforce prohibition more strictly.

The prospective appropriation still must be approved by the house and President Coolidge and, if this is forthcoming, the expenditures of the money is expected to fall to the lot of Herbert Hoover because of the short time remaining before March 4.

Wide powers would be given the chief executive in the expenditures under the amendment adopted to the first deficiency appropriations bill. It was offered by Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, a dry, and was made available over the protest of Secretary Mellon.

The senate also voted an additional $250,000 to enable the president to carry out a "thoroughgoing" investigation of prohibition. Funds for this investigation, which President-elect Hoover has given callers to understand he intends to make, also must be approved by the house and Mr. Coolidge.

Has Big Majority.

The only restriction placed upon the executive in the use of the $24,000,000 would be that he must allocate the money to departments and bureaus of the government which have a part in the enforcement of the dry laws. He would be able to use all or part of the money as he might see fit.

The vote on the Harris proposal was 50 to 27. Only three democrats were recorded against the increase, Bruce of Maryland, Kendrick of Wyoming, and Reed of Missouri, while 13 republicans voted with almost the solid democratic membership in its support.

The $250,000 fund was approved without a record vote.

Adopted in the face of strong opposition by Secretary Mellon and divided allegiance of dry leaders and organizations, the favorable action on the Harris amendment was the first time in the remembrance of congressional leader, who have dealt with many appropriations, that money has been voted under such circumstances.

Hoover to Spend It.

The appropriation was approved after a long attempt had been made by Senator Harris to increase the prohibition fund. He carried on his efforts both in and out of the senate. Earlier in the session he asked that an ad-

LOST AUTO FUNDS SOUGHT BY STATE IN COURT ACTION

American Surety Co. Sued for $8,389.99, Representing Georgia Motor Vehicle Office Shortage.

Governor L. G. Hardman, representing the state, was named the plaintiff in a suit filed in the city court of Atlanta Tuesday against the American Surety company, of New York, to recover $8,389.99, the amount of deficiency discovered in the accounts of the state motor vehicle department by Sam J. Slate, state auditor.

The discrepancy in accounts occurred during the tenure of Secretary of State Guyt McLendon, who was ex-officio motor vehicle commissioner, and followed disclosure of a shortage in funds in charge of Charles A. Cook, at that time in charge of the sale of automobile licenses as cashier.

Mr. McLendon died on March 8, 1928. The state now is suing the surety company which issued a bond for $10,000 to protect the state.

Mr. Cook, the cashier, was bonded to Mr. McLendon, but not directly to the state, hence the action in suing on the McLendon bond.

At the time of the discovery of the shortage, capitol officials expressed utmost confidence in Mr. Cook and it was generally understood at that time that the shortage was the result either of peculations of other people or of bookkeeping errors. It was first discovered after a negro porter had been caught stealing comparatively small amounts from the cash of the department.

The Fulton county grand jury refused to indict Mr. Cook and he resigned his position with the state.

The audit from which the exact amount of shortage is discovered was made by State Auditor Slate after Mr. McLendon's death and filed with the governor on April 16, 1928. George M. Napier, attorney general and T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general, are counsel for the state.

$10,594,765 PAID FOR TOBACCO CROP

Georgia Warehouses Sell 82,877,335 Pounds of State-Grown Product, Talmadge Announces.

Georgia tobacco warehouses sold 82,877,335 pounds of Georgia-grown tobacco in 1928, according to the final report on the crop issued Tuesday at the office of Eugene Talmadge, state commissioner of agriculture.

In addition to this, 2,849,838 pounds of tobacco grown in other states was in Georgia warehouses during the season.

The value of the Georgia grown tobacco was $10,594,765.88, representing an average price per pound of 12.78, while the tobacco from other states, bringing the same average price, realized a total of $364,209.30. This included tobacco from Alabama, Florida, South Carolina and Mississippi.

The markets covered in the report include Adel, Bainbridge, Baxley, Blackshear, Cairo, Camila, Claxton, Douglas, Fitzgerald, Hahira, Hazelhurst, Metter, Moultrie, Nashville Pelham, Quitman, Statesboro, Thomasville, Tifton, Valdosta, Vidalia and Waycross.

Fifty-two warehouses are represented in the compilation.

The report was made by Marcus P. McWhorter, statistician for the department of agriculture.

3 Face Arrest For Alleged Sale of Quail

Warrants Sworn Out for Trio of Produce Dealers by Game Warden.

Warrants were sworn out Tuesday afternoon in the city court of Atlanta against three Atlanta produce dealers charging them with violation of the state law which forbids the sale of quail. The cases were made by Harold M. Keen, Fulton county game warden, and his deputies, and are part of vigorous crusade now under way by the state game and fish department, under Commissioner Peter S. Twitty, to stamp out the bootlegging of quail.

The three men named in the warrants are W. Vernon McMillan, a prominent produce dealer, and Charley Hale and Claude Hildebrand, who operate stalls in the municipal market on Edgewood avenue.

Under the laws of Georgia it is legal to shoot quail between November 20 and March 1, with a daily bag limit of 20, but it is strictly against the law to sell the birds at any time. This ban applies not only to produce merchants, but to restaurants, hotels and any place where the bird is prepared for eating.

Commissioner Twitty and Mr. Keen are both determined, they stated Tuesday, to stamp out sale of quail in this state. In addition to the activity in Fulton county, many cases have been made against persons selling quail in other parts of the state. Mr. Keen stated that the Fulton county campaign would be vigorously pushed and cases made against all persons caught selling quail.

Commissioner Twitty urged all sportsmen to assist in stopping the practice and pointed out that his department has a standing offer of $50 reward for the arrest and conviction of any person selling quail.

HIGHWAY LEADERS MEET HERE TODAY

Proposed $75,000,000 Bond Issue for Good Roads To Be Discussed by Commissioners.

The Georgia state highway situation and matters relative to a proposed $75,000,000 bond issue sponsored by the highway committee of the Association of County Commissioners will be discussed at a joint meeting of that committee, the executive committee of the Association of County Commissioners and a subcommittee of the Macon Chamber of Commerce here today.

Practically every county in the state will be represented and committee leaders expect a definite agreement as to policy before adjournment. The joint meeting will follow a luncheon at the Ansley hotel.

If authorized the $75,000,000 bond issue would be applied toward completing the state highway system, it was said Tuesday. A resolution indorsing such a move has been prepared for introduction at the annual meeting of the association in Augusta later this spring, and if adopted there a bill will be presented to the legislature at its regular session this year.

The resolution recommends a $75,000,000 bond issue for paving the 5,500 miles of unpaved state roads, with stipulation that $25,000,000 or such part of that sum as necessary be used in reimbursing counties for moneys spent on state highway system. The bonds are to be retired in 20 years, being paid out of the gasoline tax, bearing not more than 4 per cent interest.

The resolution also recommends creation of a bond commission, consisting of nine members, one from each of the nine highway divisions of the state, whose duties and powers shall be defined by the legislature.

If the resolution is acted on favorably by the legislature it would then be put to a vote of the people, who would decide whether the plan was feasible.

The Association of County Commissioners at its last annual meeting authorized its president, Frank H. Turner, of Richmond county, to appoint a committee of 12 members of the association, one from each congressional district, and eight citizens from the state at large to cooperate with the state highway board in working out a definite highway build-

EDUCATION BOARD TO SLASH BUDGET

School Heads Prepare for Special Meeting To Balance 1929 Finances; Mayor Approves Sheet.

Approval Tuesday of the January finance sheet of the local city government by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale spurred administration officials of the school system to hasten work of cutting out about $894,000 from the budget of the system in preparation for a special call meeting of the board of education at which will be adopted a new budget for operation of the schools.

The city finance sheet carried appropriations in excess of $18,000,000, but the schools had asked for $3,726,485 and received about $894,000 less than that amount.

This will necessitate reduction of the school budget in order that it will be within the amount of money allocated for maintenance and operation of the system.

George W. Powell, president of the board, stated Tuesday that he will leave today for a tour of the east and midwest on a business trip and that he probably will not return to Atlanta before February 1.

Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, and other administration officials are working to cut the budget within the appropriation, but the task will not be completed for several days, according to estimates.

Mr. Powell will not be in the city when it is finished, but Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, first vice president of the board of education, will call the special session.

Mayor Ragsdale held a paper providing for payment of $10,014 to T. B. Brady for renovation of a building on Central avenue necessitated by construction of the Central avenue viaduct. He declared he wished to investigate it more thoroughly. He vetoed a proposal to purchase alum for the city water works department because he was informed by Alderman Claude Ashley, of the fourth ward and chairman of the water works committee of city council, that there had been a mistake in quotation of the price.

He approved many other routine matters and today will continue his work on the measures passed to him by city council and the aldermanic board.

YOUNG LOOMS AS HEAD OF REPARATIONS BODY

Naming of British, French or German Leader Seen Impossible.

Paris, January 22.—(AP)—Arrival here today of the Japanese members of the new committee on reparations revived speculation concerning organization of the commission. There was general opinion in governmental and financial circles that Owen D. Young, of the United States, would be named president of the body.

For political reasons Germany would object to a French chairman and a British presiding officer would be opposed for the same reasons. It was generally admitted that it would be impossible to name a German as head of the commission.

Washington dispatches which reached here via London predicted that Mr. Young would refuse to serve as president, but this failed to shake the confidence of French observers that he would be chosen and would accept. They said the post belonged to him by right of the excellent work which he did on the Dawes committee.

It was emphasized that the president would not be chosen through any governmental voice but by vote of the delegates themselves and that their opinions on the office would involve no political or other commitments.

The first contact of the delegates with each other will be at a reception which is to be given by Emile Moreau, governor of the Bank of France, on the afternoon of Saturday, February 9. This will be a purely social affair designed to give the experts an opportunity to become acquainted.

The first formal meeting will be held on February 11. The experts will themselves decide where they are to assemble. It was forecast that they would do their work here at some hotel.

They also will decide when and where they will go outside of Paris. At least a few days of their sessions probably will be held in Berlin after their organization has been completed and their method of procedure determined.

AMERICAN AUTOS SET HIGH OUTPUT RECORD DURING 1928

Washington, January 22.—(AP)—A new high production record was set by American automobile makers during 1928.

The total output of machines for the year was reported today by the commerce department to be 4,357. This was 50,000 machines greater than the previous record output reached in 1926 when 4,301,134 machines were turned out. The 1927 year's total, due largely to the shutdown of the Ford plant, was but 3,401,326.

Of the 1928 production, 3,826,613 machines were classed as passenger cars, and 530,771 were trucks. The Canadian output for 1928 was also a record, and amounted to 242,382 cars against the previous high record of 204,727 in 1926 and the 1927 output of 178,427.

SEVERE COLD WEATHER THREATENS MIDWEST

Scores of Accidents Reported as Sleet, Rain and Snow Hit Territory.

Chicago, January 22.—(AP)—Sleet, rain and snow, forerunners of a new cold wave expected to overspread the middlewest tonight, covered highways today with a slippery coating of ice that was blamed for half a dozen accidents in which more than a score of persons lost their lives, and scores of accidents resulting in less serious injuries.

While the cold wave was not expected to be as severe as that of last week, the damage was expected to be much greater, due to ice-sheathed highways, a blinding snowstorm which added to traffic hazards and a coating of ice on telephone and telegraph wires which interrupted wire communications. Snow and a falling mercury throughout the middlewest, the weather bureau indicated, would be followed tomorrow by generally fair weather with a temperature near or below zero with some rise in the mercury probable by Thursday.

Among the accidents attributed to the storm or slippery highways today the most serious was at Bellevue, Ohio, where more than a score of bus pasengers were killed or injured when the bus was struck by an interurban electric car. The bus driver was believed to have been blinded by a snowstorm.

At Michigan City, Ind., ice-coated rails were blamed for the collision of a South Shore electric train with a freight train and the injury of five persons while at Rock Island, Ill., a fatality was reported in a coasting accident and at Moline a critical injury from a similar accident was reported.

Flooded lowlands at Mt. Carmel and Peoria, Ill., were reported as swollen streams overflowed their banks with prospects that several main highways might be impassable by tomorrow. The cold wave rushing eastward from the Rocky mountain region today had overspread Montana, South Dakota and Nebraska where zero or sub-zero temperatures had been reported. At Havre, Mont., last night, it was 20 degrees below zero.

J. G. HALL, FORMER ATLANTAN, IS MADE EXCHANGE MEMBER

New York, January 22.—(Special.)—J. Goodwin Hall, world war aviation hero, will go on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange for the first time tomorrow morning as a member. He will represent the new brokerage concern of Collins, Hall & Peckham, who will open their doors tomorrow at 39 Broadway. He was recently connected with the brokerage firm of Samuel Ungerleider and company.

Although Mr. Hall now is primarily a broker he still retains a very active interest in aviation. He frequently takes long-distance flights here and in Canada in quest of game. Born in Atlanta, he attended Georgia Tech, which he left to join the French air service, becoming a pilot in the 111th Esquadrille. His brilliant record in bringing down enemy planes won for him a croix de guerre with three citations. He later joined the American army, which he served until 1923 when he entered Wall street.

LITHUANIA PUTS APPROVAL STAMP ON KELLOGG PACT

Kovno, Lithuania, January 22.—(AP) The Lithuanian government today ratified the Kellogg pact.

Ratification by Lithuania has significance in its bearing upon negotiations between Russia and Poland for a special protocol applying the pact in a localized sense to the states that touch the western frontier of Russia. A dispatch from Warsaw last night said that Poland had suggested it would sign the protocol provided that the soviet government would immediately invite Finland, Esthonia and Latvia to join while Poland, as intermediary, would pass the invitation to Rumania. There was no mention of Lithuania in this Polish proposal.

Poland and Lithuania have been at odds over frontier questions and over Vilna, a city which Lithuania claims as its legitimate capital, but which is now held by Poland.

BILL ASKS REPEAL OF ANTI-EVOLUTION ACT IN ARKANSAS

Little Rock, Ark., January 22.—(AP) A move to repeal the anti-evolution act passed as an initiative measure at the general election last November, was launched in the Arkansas house of representatives today.

Representative Grubbs, of Chicot, submitted a bill to repeal the anti-evolution act which was mentioned only as "initiative act No. 1" adopted at the last election. It was referred to the committee on education where a determined fight between evolution and anti-evolution forces is expected.

A two-thirds vote of both houses of the general assembly is necessary to repeal the act.

The battle to keep the anti-evolution act on the statute books is expected to be led in the house by Representative Atkins, of Prairie county, who at the legislative session two years ago introduced an almost identical measure.

SENATORS DETERMINED TO BUILD CRUISERS

Washington, January 22.—(AP)—The filibuster threatening the year-old cruiser construction bill almost disappeared today as the senate drove ahead with the long-pending deficiency appropriation measure which has been standing in the way of the naval program.

On the verge of a return to the naval bill which would authorize 15 new cruisers and one aircraft carrier, senate leaders were confident tonight of their ability to press it to a final vote within a short period. Unwilling to take any chance on a filibuster, they are preparing to keep it before the senate until acted upon.

No Filibuster Is Order.

After Senator Norris, of Nebraska, leader of the republican independents, had passed out word today against a filibuster on the naval bill, which a group he heads is ready to oppose, Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the republican leader, a short while later obtained an agreement to limit debate on the pending proposal to increase prohibition enforcement funds to ten minutes to each senator.

Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, one of the group opposed to the naval measure, yesterday talked for three hours on the dry enforcement item and friends of the naval program were fearful that other senators might retard action by further extended discussion of the prohibition question.

Today a number of the group opposed to the naval measure said they had no intention of conducting a deliberate filibuster, but made clear their intention to resist it with the hope of obtaining some form of modification of its provisions.

Coolidge Wants Bill Passed.

Meanwhile, it became known today that President Coolidge feels the naval bill, one of the last major pieces of administration legislation still pending, would be acted upon, and at the same time Chairman Hale, of the senate naval committee, in charge of the bill, expressed confidence that he could drive it through the senate without material change from the form in which it passed the house. Once he gets going on it again he and its supporters are ready to go into long daily sessions in the effort to obtain a vote as soon as possible.

Opponents are going to try to reduce the authorization from 15 to 10 or to five cruisers. They also are expected to line up behind the proposal of President Coolidge to eliminate the clause to require completion of the new cruiser program within three years.

However, Senator Hale is confident also of the votes to block even the Coolidge proposal.

To Let Opponents Talk.

Naval bill proponents intend to leave the debate from now on almost entirely to the opposition, which thus far has not uttered a word on the legislation. In the short time it was before the senate prior to the consideration of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill, the cruiser measure was discussed in lengthy prepared addresses only by its proponents. The group rallying to the support of the naval measure is not relaxing any in its vigil by virtue of the protestations of some of the foes against a filibuster and they were ready tonight to make a determined drive for early action and to ask for night sessions, if necessary.

The veteran Senator Warren, of Wyoming, chairman of the appropriations committee, put the senate on notice today that he was tired of the debate on the deficiency appropriation bill and that he would demand its passage before adjournment, no matter what the hour.

BRITAIN TO CONSIDER BORE UNDER CHANNEL

Sixty-Year-Old Project Will Be Gone Into Thoroughly.

London, January 22.—(AP)—The scheme for a tunnel under the English channel reached the house of commons again today. Stanley Baldwin, prime minister, announced that a comprehensive non-party reexamination would be made into the 60-year-old project. A tunnel connecting England with the French coast has been urged by economists but always has been opposed by military strategists. Construction of a 21-mile bridge also has been discussed.

E. Thurtle, labor, Shoreditch, asked for time to discuss the motion and Mr. Baldwin replied that in view of the wide public interest in the project the cabinet had concluded the time was ripe for a comprehensive inquiry. He said the ministers wished to have the economic aspects thoroughly examined in order that they might be weighed with imperial defense considerations.

In view of the time required to carry out the project it would be in the public interest to deal with the question outside a party atmosphere, the prime minister continued. Some agreement was necessary also whereby the decision of the government might not be upset by a succeeding one. He would like to obtain the cooperation of leaders of the other parties from the outset of the inquiry.

When the proposal was before parliament in 1924, Ramsay MacDonald, then prime minister, invited Mr. Baldwin, David Lloyd George and others to attend a meeting of the committee of imperial defense, which was studying the question.

Subsequently Mr. MacDonald informed the house of commons that an adverse decision had been reached unanimously.

TARIFF BODY HEARS MANY VIEWS ON SUGAR

Washington, January 22.—(AP)—Further proposals for and against increasing the import duties on raw sugar and for both increases and reductions in rates on sugar by-products were received by the house ways and means committee today during hearings on tariff revision.

The highest rate on sugar yet suggested was requested on behalf of the farmers by Chester Gray, representative of the American Farm Bureau federation, who asked a rate of 3 cents a pound on Cuban sugar, now dutiable at 1.76 cents, and an application of the duty to the Philippine islands and Porto Rico, whose imports are now duty free.

Reciprocal Trade Treaty.

Under the reciprocal trade treaty with Cuba, sugar from that island is allowed a reduction of 20 per cent in the present full rate of 2.2 cents. Gray would have this treaty abrogated, because, he contended, it has "become intolerable to American producers of sugar and tobacco."

Philippine competition, he said, was having a detrimental effect on beet sugar growers, he argued that the Filipino sugar should bear the same duty applicable to any foreign country. Porto Rican sugar also should be dutiable, he added, although this competition was not as severe as that occasioned by Philippine imports.

Gray also proposed increase in the tariff on blackstrap molasses not dutiable at from one-sixth to five-sixths of a cent a gallon to 4 cents; and on maple sugar to 9 cents and maple syrup to 7 cents a pound. Maple sugar and syrup now are both dutiable at 4 cents a pound.

Beet Growers Testify.

While western beet growers today added reams of testimony to that given yesterday for higher sugar duties and restrictions on Philippine imports, the domestic soft drink and confectionery manufacturers submitted briefs opposing any increase.

Junior Owens, secretary of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages, declared 90 per cent of the soft drink industry was on a 5-cent basis and because of this limitation it could not pass on the consumer any increase in duty. An increase, he argued, would add $86,000,000 a year to the nation's soft drink bill.

Walter C. Hughes, secretary of the National Confectioners association, contended a 1 cent higher duty would increase the country's candy bill $8,000,000 a year. He added that the tariff commission had held that 1.23 cents a pound was the difference in cost of production of sugar in the United States and Cuba.

Declaring that the last five years had seen a decrease of 33 per cent in the sugar beet acreage in Michigan, Representative Woodruff, republican, of that state, asked an increase of 1 cent on Cuban sugar, or a rate of 2.76 cents. He also favored the Timberlake resolution, limiting Philippine sugar imports to 500,000 tons.

Molasses Schedule.

Importers of blackstrap molasses urged no increase be granted on this product on the ground that it was essential to the cattle industry and because this grade of domestic molasses, made from beet sugar, was unsuitable for feed purposes. They also advocated a change in the phraseology of the law which would obviate the necessity of the expensive watering of the imported blackstrap molasses to escape a higher duty.

Western corn growers and Louisiana molasses producers, however, requested increases in the molasses duty, the former contending imports of this product came in direct competition with soft corn used in the manufacture of industrial alcohol.

New York candy importers requested a reduction to 25 per cent in the present duty of 40 per cent ad valorem on candy and confectionery. They held they were not getting a fair return on their investments and that exports were three times higher than imports.

Sights Thousands Of Whales in Herds Off Ocean Coast

Norfolk, Va., January 22.—(United News.)—Several thousand whales were sighted along the Atlantic coast from Cape Hatteras to Cape Henry Saturday and Sunday by Captain Olaf Bowitz, master of the Norwegian steamer Kem, he reported upon arrival here today.

Captain Bowitz said the whales were in three herds, and appeared to be feasting off small fish. Innumerable sea birds huddled over the vicinity, alighting on the water to devour bits of food left by the monsters of the deep, he said.

So far as known never before have whales been sighted in such large numbers along this coast.

Major Carl Spatz, commander of "The Question Mark," now-famous army plane, which wrote aviation history when it broke all existing records for sustained flight, Tuesday was officially invited to Atlanta by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and the chamber of commerce. Mayor Ragsdale sent his message to Shreveport, where Major Spatz and his ship stopped, en route to Washington. The message was as follows: "Atlanta learns that Question Mark is en route to Washington. Hope that you will honor Atlanta with visit.—I. N. Ragsdale."

The chamber of commerce issued a similar invitation to Major Spatz, Gregory C. Bowden, chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber, stated Tuesday. The plane is scheduled to be in Montgomery today, it was said, and should arrive in Atlanta Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. Aviators and air-minded citizens generally will join in the gigantic welcome which has been planned for the distinguished visitors and all local civic organizations have been asked to lend their assistance in the movement.

Formation of a southern corporation, to be affiliated with the American Airports corporation of New York, for the development of airports throughout the southeastern states, is the plan being developed by Captain Stanford E. Moses, U. S. N., retired, southern representative of the airports corporation, who recently has moved to Atlanta from California. Captain Moses, a Georgian by birth, formerly was commander of aircraft squadrons in the United States navy battle fleet. He was graduated from Annapolis in 1892 and retired from the navy in 1927, since which time he has been consulting engineer for commercial aviation projects, with headquarters in San Francisco. He also served as chairman of the aviation committee of the Berkeley, Calif., chamber of commerce and as a member of the aviation committee of the Oakland, Calif., chamber of commerce.

The corporation's plans, according to Captain Moses, are to organize the southern company largely of Atlanta business men, after which it will be possible to draw on the experience of the experts of the American Airports corporation, which has constructed and managed airports in many parts of the country. Colonel Stedman Hanks, president of the corporation, formerly was a pilot in the air forces of the United States army and is an aviator of many years' experience. He is well known in New York as a banker and a business man. He recently made an aerial tour of most of the countries of Europe to study their airports with the view of utilizing the information gained in his work in America.

Captain Moses stated Tuesday that he felt sure that Atlanta was in a position to become an exceedingly important point on the airways of the United Sates, but added that immediate development of the Atlanta airport and of those in neighboring towns would be urgently needed. He pointed that in Los Angeles county, California, there are now 49 airports, with many others planned.

Five Georgia men have been selected among the 195 applicants who will start training on March 1 as flying cadets at the United States army flying schools at Brooks field, San Antonio, Texas, and March field, Riverside, Calif., according to information received Tuesday at Fourth Corp Area headquarters, Fort McPherson. Three men from Atlanta are among the Georgians selected. They are John H. Catchings, Jr., Edward C. Davis, Jr., and Hugh I. DuBois. Virginius L. Brown, Jr., of Fort Valley, and Arthur N. Caldwell, of Smyrna, are the other two Georgia men picked. All of the embryo fliers from this state will train at Brooks field.

Suzanne Lenglen Engages Passage On French Liner

New York, January 22.—(AP)—The New York American says today that Suzanne Lenglen has engaged passage for herself and mother on the French liner Paris, sailing Friday, and that officials of the line are holding in reserve a stateroom for Baldwin M. Baldwin.

The Lenglens, who were reported eastward bound after a hurried departure from the California home of Baldwin's mother, Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin, have evaded all efforts to locate them. Baldwin who, although still married, was at various times reported a suitor for the hand of the former world's tennis champion, also left his mother's home at the same time.

The cause of their abrupt departure was never explained, Mrs. Baldwin's secretary merely issuing a statement saying: "Mrs. Baldwin never quarrels with a guest."

Baldwin has acted as Miss Lenglen's manager since she quit the amateur ranks for a career as a professional tennis player.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE IS NAMED FOR CHEST

Henry C. Heinz Is Appointed Head of Body of Prominent Atlantans.

Leading Atlantans, men and women, have been recruited for service on the executive committee of the Community Chest, appointed by H. M. Atkinson, president of the organization, it was announced Tuesday. The list follows:

Henry C. Heinz, chairman; Samuel C. Dobbs, Edward H. Inman, Thomas H. Daniel, Walter B. Stewart, Louis J. Elsas, E. A. Thornwell, W. Bayne Gibson, Thomas C. Law, Kendall Weisiger, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, Mrs. Preston Arkwright and Mrs. Samuel M. Inman.

Mr. Heinz was general chairman of the campaign for public support which began November 19 and which so far has resulted in contributions of approximately $385,000 of the $480,000 declared by a committee of business men to be the minimum necessary for effective operation of the 39 societies of the Chest in 1929.

This appeal for public support will be continued, according to plans announced by leaders of the organization, in an effort to obtain as much as possible toward the goal. If a considerable portion of the deficiency is not made up, Mr. Heinz said, it will mean a natural reduction in efficiency of the 39 societies supported through the Chest, and a consequent menace of human suffering in many cases.

1-TO-3-YEAR TERM GIVEN TO SLAYER OF SILVEY RHODES

A consent verdict of guilty to a charge of voluntary manslaughter brought Robert Humphries a term of from one to three years for the slaying of Silvey Rhodes when Humphries faced Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton superior court Tuesday. Humphries had been indicted for murder, the true bill alleging that the defendant struck Rhodes with a brick.

On a plea of guilty to two indictments charging passage of fictitious checks, Ira Stanley drew a net term of twelve months. One of the checks, for $12, was passed on J. R. Hart, of 426 Whitehall street, S. W., and the other, for $8, was passed on J. H. Algood, of 283 Peachtree, according to the indictments.

Appointment of James A. Hollomon, of The Constitution, as chairman of a newly-created Greater Georgia committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce was announced Tuesday by Philip H. Alston, president of the chamber. Other committee members will be appointed later.

"The work of this committee will be to establish and maintain more intimate contact with other cities and towns in Georgia and the southeast," said Mr. Alston. HOOVER INAUGURAL TO BE WITNESSED BY GOV. HARDMAN

When Herbert Hoover is inaugurated as president of the United States on March 4 next, part of his official parade will include Governor L. G. Hardman, of Georgia, his official staff and a military escort.

This was assured Tuesday when Governor Hardman formally accepted the invitation, which was received from Washington a few days ago. The governor delayed replying until he could arrange his official duties to permit his absence from the state at that time.

Definite arrangements for the trip will await the return to his office of Adjutant General Parker, who has been suffering from an attack of flu.

Under the new rate, the slightly increased amount of gas consumed in heating water automatically brings you a cut in rate on ALL the gas you use. Thus you actually pay much less for operating your gas water-heating system.

We would appreciate an opportunity to explain in detail the many advantages of the various gas water-heating systems we have on display. One of them is sure to meet your needs exactly, whether it is tank and coil heater or a full self-action storage system.

We suggest you investigate without delay. We will gladly give you full details—without obligating you in any way.

PROGRAM FOR PRESS INSTITUTE OUTLINED

Prominent Speakers Carded for February Session at Athens.

Athens, Ga., January 22.—(Special.)—Designed to assemble practicing newspaper men and women of Georgia for lectures, class work and round-tables on current journalistic problems, the Georgia Press institute will be held on the campus of the University of Georgia February 20-23.

The institute is sponsored by the Georgia Press association and the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism. Sessions will be held in the new Commerce-Journalism building. Leading educators and journalists of the country have been invited to address the institute, in addition to the teachers of journalism of the state who will direct the class instruction in journalism.

Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the University of North Carolina, will address the editors February 22 in connection with the George Washington day program which the university has arranged.

Dr. Willard Grosvenor Bleyer, director of the School of Journalism of the University of Wisconsin, has been asked to give a series of three lectures on newspaper technique. Dr. Bleyer, a former president of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism, and chairman of the council on education for journalism, is an outstanding teacher of journalism. Founder of the course in journalism at Wisconsin some 25 years ago, Dr. Bleyer and his colleagues have had an important part in shaping journalistic instruction in this country. He is author of several of the standard textbooks in journalism.

Assisting Dr. Bleyer in the classroom instruction in journalism will be Dean S. V. Sanford, Professor John E. Drewry and Mrs. M. H. Bryan, of the University of Georgia journalism faculty; John D. Allen and Mrs. Willie Snow Ethridge, of Mercer university; Miss Virginia Garner, of Wesleyan college; Professor George M. Sparks, of Georgia Tech; Professor R. B. Nixon, of Emory university; Dr. W. F. Molton, of Oglethorpe university, and Dr. R. L. Brantley, of Bessie Tift college.

The three southern editors who have won Pulitzer prizes for meritorious public service and for editorials of distinction have been extended invitations to appear on the program. These editors are Robert Lanthan, Asheville (N. C.) Citizen; Julian Harris, Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer-Sun, and Grover Cleveland Hall, Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

Many Are Invited.

Invitations have been extended to several prominent journalists, other than these, from out of the state to appear on the program, and the institute committee, of which Mark Ethridge, managing editor of the Macon Telegraph, is chairman, is expecting to be able to announce their acceptance next week.

Tentative plans provide for an opening reception in War Memorial hall on the university campus Wednesday evening, February 20, at which officials of the university and certain of the visiting journalists will speak. Class work gets under way Thursday morning. President Andrew M. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture, will entertain the editors with a luncheon Thursday noon. Luncheons by various groups and evening entertainments are included in the program.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, and the Scribes, a group of women students in journalism, will have charge of one of the evening programs. On this occasion there will be a debate between students in journalism and students in commerce on a journalistic-economic subject. A journalistic skip, stunts and music will complete the program.

GREAT PECAN GROWTH FORECAST FOR STATE

Better Peach Production and Marketing Needed, McHatton Says.

Athens, January 22.—(AP)—Prediction that the pecan industry was destined to be the state's leading horticultural enterprise was made here today at the farmer's week and marketing conference by Dr. T. H. McHatton, head of the horticultural division of the University of Georgia.

He said that the state would never go out of the peach growing industry, but that the industry needed better production and marketing methods. He stated that the apple business in north Georgia had been overplanted, but that this would be overcome.

Dr. McHatton, together with A. J. Nitzschke, president of the state horticultural society, pointed out in discussing vegetables and trucking that Atlanta alone used many more cars of vegetables than those furnished by state growers. Mr. Nitszchke said that market conditions were favorable to the Georgia grower, especially those of the north Georgia counties, and that better returns were made by them last year than by outside-of-the-state shippers.

Turner Views Rail Issues.

W. F. Turner, Central of Georgia horticultural agent, Macon, in discussing railroad transportation of vegetables, said that the railroad's problems were to deliver the produce to the place and person intended; to move it expeditiously and with all possible speed; to furnish equipment to shippers and to protect the perishables in transit.

Dr. H. H. Bennett, bureau of soil chemistry, United States department of agriculture, discussed soil erosion, while Dr. Lee M. Hutchins, United States Peach laboratory, Fort Valley, spoke of the significance of the phony peach disease and mentioned ways of combating it.

Cooperation of state women's clubs with other organizations, all working toward finer citizenship, better rural schools and saner legislation, was urged by Mrs. S. V. Sanford, vice president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

In discussing her subject, "The Federation and Rural Education," Mrs. Sanford asserted that no state could reach the highest development without the combined workings of its various organizations. "The strength of the wolf is the pack and the strength of the pack is the wolf," she said.

She stated that the federation indorsed the Farmers' week and would be glad to assist in its activities for rural betterment. However, she added that the demand for better conditions must come from the farmers themselves. "They must demand from the state resources legislation, educational institutions and school systems that will remove the feelings of an inferiority complex that now exists in many localities."

Rural Schools Weak.

She pointed out that the weakest spot in our educational system is the rural school and to remedy it there must be more revenue and new sources of revenue. "Educate the people and other blessings will come," she contended.

Mrs. Sanford said that state federation members pledged themselves to cooperate in bettering the conditions of the rural school and called upon them to fight for tax revision and for new sources for school revenue.

In discussing university opportunities Mrs. Sanford said that it would be impossible to have a university system until a school system had been established and a school system without a university system would be of little value because inspiration comes from above and the diffusion of knowledge comes down from the university to the public schools. The two must go hand in hand, she said.

Asserting that women of Georgia should be proud of the State College of Agriculture, she said: "Think of what conditions were in Georgia before President Soule threw his intellect and heart into this great movement for finer conditions and happier lives on the farm."

In conclusion, she appealed to the women to acquaint themselves with the duties of voters and to study current political matters.

MRS. C. A. PITTMAN GIVES $500 BOND IN SHOOTING CASE

Charges of disorderly conduct in connection with the shooting of C. A. Pittman, Atlanta contractor, were formally preferred against his wife, Mrs. C. A. Pittman, 27, of 2795 Peachtree road, Tuesday by Detectives Chester and Jones. She was released under $500 bond following booking of the charge.

Pittman was shot through the right hand and thigh Saturday night in the apartment of Miss Helen Reese, of 705 Piedmont avenue, and according to police records, the shooting was done by Mrs. Pittman when she found him in the company of Miss Reese.

Miss Reese was taken into custody Sunday and was released under $100 bond after disorderly conduct charges were booked against her. Mrs. Pittman came to headquarters Tuesday afternoon and after conferring with Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole was charged with disorderly conduct. Chief Poole declined to comment on his conference with Mrs. Pittman.

Both defendants are to appear before Recorder A. W. Callaway at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

FIGHT IS WAGED OVER SPUR TRACK AT PEACH CENTER

Petitions to discontinue agency stations, passenger trains and one spur track occupied the Georgia public service commission at hearings which lasted all day Tuesday. A petition by the Central of Georgia to discontinue a six-mile spur track for peach shipments at Marshallville took up the greater part of the day, citizens from that territory offering vigorous opposition.

The Marshallville case decision was deferred to a later date by the commission, but the following requests were granted at an executive session held immediately after the public hearings:

The American Railway Express company was granted permission to discontinue its agency at Huntington; the Southeastern Express company was granted permission to discontinue agencies at Oakwood and Doraville, and the Central of Georgia railway was granted permission to discontinue passenger trains numbers 13 and 14 between Dublin and Dover and to rearrange schedules of trains number 25 and 26 between the same points.

NO NEW LIGHT SHED ON DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Investigators Still Follow Murder-Suicide Theory in Columbus Case.

Columbus, Ga., January 22.—(AP)—City and state officers, assisted by experts detailed by Attorney General Charlie C. McCall, of Alabama, today picked up the loose ends of every available clue in the double tragedy which las week claimed the lives of Ella Mae Fountain, Columbus, and J. W. Edmunds, Phenix City, Ala., but every thread led back to the murder suicide theory of the dual slaying.

Standing alone against the theory that Edmunds first shot Miss Fountain as she sat beside him in the seat of a rented automobile, parked near an Alabama roadside, and then fired two bullets into his own breast, is the statement of the dying man, that he "did not do it," but that it was done by a man whom he knew by sight but not by name.

Chief of Police Blair, of Phenix City, said early tonight that no new light has been thrown on the mystery, but that investigators will commit themselves to no theory until every angle of the matter has been probed.

Assisting local authorities in the investigation are W. J. Courtney, gun and wound expert, who figured in the probe of the Hall Mills murder mystery in New Jersey, and Z. R. Mahan, both detailed on the case by the Alabama attorney general.

Milledgeville, Ga., January 22.—(AP)—George Forrester, prominent Atlanta business man, serving a sentence at the state prison farm here for embezzlement, was reported today in a critical condition from pneumonia at the city hospital here, to which he was removed yesterday. Prison officials said little hope was held for his recovery.

Al Smith, in Fireman's Role, Slides Down a Brass Pole

STOPS ON WAY TO SOUTHERN GOAL

Savannah, Ga., January 22.—(AP)—As honorary chief of the New York fire department, Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York state, delighted his audience at the Savannah fire headquarters tonight when he terminated his visit to the smoke-eaters by sliding down a brass pole in a fully approved manner. William F. Kenny and John J. Raskob, also in the party, did likewise.

The democratic candidate for president in the recent national election was given an ovation on his arrival at the fire station. The firemen's band struck up "East Side, West Side" as Chief John H. Monroe, as host, escorted the distinguished visitors upstairs.

After shaking hands with a great many of his admirers who had gathered as word of the former governor's visit had gotten around the neighborhood, Mr. Smith and the others were entertained by Chief Monroe for a short while. The visit was ended after a brief speech on Mr. Smith's part, and a cheer of approval was given him as he slid down the brass pole to the main floor. He said that in his 15,000 miles of travel he always tried to accept invitations to fire houses.

The invitation to visit the fire headquarters was delivered yesterday afternoon when a bouquet of flowers, bearing the invitation was tossed from an aeroplane on the golf links at Wilmington island as the ex-governor and his party were playing golf. The bouquet fell not far from Mr. Smith. The plane was piloted by J. W. Grover, fireman, with chemical engine number 1 and Captain R. O. O'Keefe, of truck company number 3, acted as flower tosser.

Tonight at 9 o'clock a trio and a quintet from Georgia state industrial college, an institute for negro youths, visited the Carl Espy home where ex-Governor Smith is being entertained and serenaded him.

During the day the visitors enjoyed golf, the games being played on the golf course of Henry Walthour, of Wilmington island, adjacent to the Savannah-Oglethorpe hotel. Mr. Smith expects to leave Savannah tomorrow afternoon for Florida.

DIOCESE OF ATLANTA CONVENES IN MACON

Annual Address of Bishop Mikell Will Be Made Today.

Macon, Ga., January 22.—(AP)—In his sermon opening the three-day convention of the diocese of Atlanta at Christ church, tonight, Dean Raimunde D'Ovies, of St. Phillips cathedral, Atlanta, said that "today we are faced with the terrific giant of materialism, the champion of the world."

In answering "what shall we do?" he told the Biblical story of David and Goliah.

"Some one will come along who is old-fashioned enough not to care about technique," he admonished his audience; "some one who knows that God exists; that God is love and that He is interested in His children. Such a person will go out and get something done just as David did. He believed that God could and that God would kill the giant and he went out in that faith and slew Goliath."

"It is not the beliefs of the church people that I worry about," continued the dean, "but it is of their faith that I fear. We should know that God cannot fail and that we who are with Him cannot fail."

About 200 ministers and laymen attended the opening session. Sessions will continue at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning when the annual address of Bishop H. J. Mikell, of Atlanta, will be the principal event. There also will be a talk tomorrow night by Robert S. Barrett, of Alexandria, Va., who will tell of his visits to missionary stations of the church in all parts of the world.

MERCER STUDENTS PLAN TO ABOLISH HIGHEST HONORS

Macon, Ga., January 22—(Special.) Steps toward the abolition of the honorary office of Master Mercerian, supposed to be the highest honor conferred by the students of Mercer university, were inaugurated here the first of this week by the Presidents' club of the university.

A committee to draw up resolutions recommending to the student body the discontinuance of the practice of electing every year a typical student was appointed by J. Q. Davidson, of Fort Valley, president of the Presidents' club, with Howard Leonard, of Macon, chairman; Will Ed Smith, Fitzgerald, and W. A. Wommack, Harrison.

For the past eight years it has been a tradition at Mercer for the students to elect a senior who most completely fulfills their ideal of the Master Mercerian. Among those chosen in past years is W. A. Bootle, who has been nominated by President Coolidge for United States attorney for the middle Georgia district.

Reasons advanced for the abolition of the office were that it has grown into a quasi-political position; that "its original purpose has long since been defeated," and that the election usually is accompanied by "underhanded politicking."

CEMENT LEADERS END CONFERENCE IN ATLANTA TODAY

The southeastern regional three-day conference of field engineers of the Portland Cement association will come to a close tonight with a dinner at the Biltmore hotel. The final business session will convene at the hotel at 10 o'clock this morning and at that time F. R. McMillan, of Chicago, will give the principal address of the day, speaking on concrete and concrete aggregates.

Tuesday's sessions were featured by an address on roads and road building by A. A. Anderson, of Chicago. In his speech, Mr. Anderson, who is now engaged in making a survey of concrete road building activities in southeastern states, gave some results of his survey. The year just past showed an increase of 16 per cent in concrete road construction over 1924, while his prediction was that 1929 will even exceed 1928. There is an aggregate program of more than $300,000,000 in concrete road building under consideration by legislative bodies in the south and east, exclusive of the states of Georgia and Virginia, he said.

MEETING IS POSTPONED BY PRISON COMMITTEE

Consideration of Report on Pen Investigations To Be Held Later This Week.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, January 22.—Although originally set for today, the house special prison committee has postponed until later in the week the meeting called for the purpose of considering a report on its investigation of federal penal institutions in Atlanta and elsewhere, conducted during the summer.

It became evident today that when the committee meets a spirited battle is likely to take place over the proposal to have the final report include pointed criticism of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United State attorney general, for the part she is alleged to have played in the planting of federal under cover men in the Atlanta penitentiary in an effort to "bushwhack" Warden John P. Snook. No definite date has been set for the meeting. It may come as early as Wednesday.

Representative John G. Cooper, of Ohio, republican chairman of the committee, is reported to have informed friends of Mrs. Willebrandt, now vacationing in California, that he will not allow the majority report to contain any critical reference to her. When last approached on the subject, he stated frankly that he did not regard the Snook incident as coming within the full scope of the committee, which, explained, was appointed more for the purpose of investigating prison facilities and accommodations.

On the other hand, Representative John F. Boylan, of New York, one of the two democratic members of the body, declared today that he regards a discussion of the Willebrandt-Snook affair as entirely proper. He added that he would insist not only on a full report of the committee's findings in Atlanta but that criticism be directed both at the woman assistant attorney general and the United States district judge at Detroit, who was charged with having signed false commitment papers on which the under cover operative gained admission to the Atlanta penitentiary.

Representative Thomas M. Bell, of Georgia, the other democratic member of the committee, shares, the views of his New York colleague, and at one time proposed that Mrs. Willebrandt be called personally to undergo questioning. Members of the committee wanted to know by what legal authority the department of justice had "planted" men in the institution under false commitments.

A preliminary draft of the report has already been completed by Representative Cooper. This is said to contain no reference to the Atlanta incident.

INSPECTOR IN MACON

Army Recruiting Progress Pleasing to McChestney.

Macon, Ga., January 22.—(Special) First Sergeant Charles H. McChesney, of the Atlanta army recruiting district, arrived here today on his annual tour of inspection.

After visiting the local substation, Sergeant McChesney reported he was very much pleased with the progress being made here by Sergeant Charles E. Day, in charge of the Macon office.

While here Sergeant McChesney will supervise the installation of new equipment for the local office. He plans to return to Atlanta Wednesday.

Warm Weather Light Showers, On Slate Today

Atlanta may still expect an occasional shower of rain today to be followed by a gradual dropping off of temperature late this afternoon, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local bureau chief, who stated Tuesday that spring weather would continue for a while and that there still was chance for a little precipitation.

The mid-winter warm spell which has been in evidence here for more than a week reached new heights Tuesday when the mercury soared to a high point of 74, with one exception, the highest point ever recorded here in January. The record is 76, which was established January 21, 1927, and Mr. von Herrmann stated that but for the clouds which assembled in the afternoon, even this mark might have been surpassed. Several days so far this month the mercury has passed the 70 mark. Such a continued spell of high temperatures Mr. von Herrmann characterized as most unusual and very likely to prove harmful to the fruit crop.

The minimum Tuesday was 59, giving a mean temperature for the day almost 20 degrees above normal. Today's range is expected to be from 60 to 70.

ENJOYS HER FIRST WELL DAY IN OVER A YEAR, SHE SAYS

Atlanta Woman Tells How Sargon Helped Her; Husband Now Taking It, Too.

"Before taking Sargon I hadn't seen a well day in a year or more. My liver was out of order and when I started the Sargon treatment I had an awful complexion. My skin was as yellow as a pumpkin and I had pimples all over my face. I don't think my blood was normal either, and I was almost in a state of nervous collapse.

MRS. W. M. COPELAND.

"I had to take some strong laxative almost every day to relieve me of constipation, and I suffered constantly from biliousness. When I would stoop over my head would whirl around and I would see dark spots before my eyes. I was just too weak for anything. A half hour's work would tire me out more than a whole day's work does since I started taking Sargon.

"I also suffered terribly from nervous indigestion. My appetite was very poor. Now for the first time in more than a year I am able to sit down at the table and enjoy a good meal. My digestion seems to be perfect. I have a good appetite and relish my food. My complexion has cleared up and the brown spots have gone from my face and arms. I am no longer nervous and I sleep splendidly at nights.

"Sargon has done so much for me that my husband is taking it also. Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the grandest medicines I have ever used."

The above statement was made by Mrs. W. M. Copeland, who resides on Rural Route 53, near Atlanta. She has been a resident of this city for 23 years.

Why Sargon accomplishes such amazing results is being explained by the Sargon representative at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, where hundreds are calling daily to learn more of the powers of the medicine. Sargon may also be obtained at the other Jacobs' stores all over Atlanta.—(adv.)

CHICAGO MILK STRIKE IS TO BE ARBITRATED

Health Commissioner Succeeds in Ending Price War.

Chicago, January 22.—(AP)—Chicago's milk strike, with its attendant displays of violence and destruction of milk destined for the Chicago market, was ended at a conference of producers, distributors and city health officers early today.

Dr. Arnold Kegel, commissioner of health, announced that the two factions, at loggerheads for weeks over the price to be paid for raw milk, had agreed to submit their differences to arbitration.

Officials of the Pure Milk association, representing the striking dairymen, agreed to order the discontinuance of picketing pending settlement.

The dairymen's demand of $2.85 a hundredweight for milk and the distributors' counter-proposal of $2.50 were to be submitted for arbitration today at a meeting between representatives of the two factions.

Should this method of arbitration fail, Dr. Kegel was authorized at the early morning meeting to name one man to fix a fair price to be paid for the city's milk supply.

EMORY BOYS ASK COUNCIL TO GIVE RULE ON DANCING

Emory university's spring social season, known as Little Commencement, and recently abolished by action of the council of deans, once more has become the point of controversy, according to the current issue of The Emory Wheel, student publication.

According to the magazine, a petition is now being circulated and readily signed by students asking that the council reinstate the Little Commencement or else make a definite statement on the subject of student dancing. The subject of dancing is introduced. The Wheel says, because, while the council assigned scholastic reasons for abolition of the spring function, general student opinion has it that the Methodist church ban on dancing was the real cause of the ban.

It has long been the wish of many students, and some alumni, as evidenced by an article recently carried in The Emory Alumnus, that the council definitely voice its attitude on the dancing question.

JEWISH AWAKENING URGED IN ADDRESS BY POLISH PASTOR

Asserting that the Hebrew race is under the burden of catastrophe and declaring that the Jews are suffering because of disobedience, Rev. Peter Gorodishz, of Poland, speaking Tuesday night at the Jewish Christian conference at the Gospel tabernacle, appealed for a Jewish awakening.

The speaker delivered his message through an interpreter. He exhorted the people of his race to turn to Christianity. "It is the mission of Christianity," he said, "to bring the Jewish people to recognition of repentance, bring them to realize that they have sinned against their ancient God."

Rev. Jacob Gartenhaus, in charge of evangelization work of the Baptist home mission board, will lead a 7 o'clock meeting Wednesday night. His subject will be "Winning Our Jewish Neighbors." The regular service will begin at 7:45 o'clock.

POULTRY DEVELOPMENT.

That the poultry industry in Georgia is growing to large proportions is indicated by the sales last week held by the state bureau of markets of the Georgia department of agriculture, in cooperation with the local county agents.

A total of 145,953 pounds of chickens sold for $36,488.25 on three runs which were operated in north Georgia and which filled nine cars. One run included Hartwell, Bowersville, Royston, Canon, Lavonia, Martin and Toccoa, four cars being filled with 59,953 pounds which brought over $15,000. On a run from Carrollton, Whitesburg, Newnan and Senoia two cars were loaded, and on the run from Bowman, Elberton and Comer three cars were loaded, the five cars weighing 86,000 pounds brought $21,500.

In some of the counties as much as $5,000 was paid for poultry on these runs.

Recently a well-known Atlantan, who lives in the suburbs, and whose "hobby" is poultry, informed The Constitution that he could not make the production profitable. But it can be made profitable. There are hundreds of farmers in Georgia who are paying their entire expenses by raising and selling chickens and eggs. The following editorial from the Lavonia Times is an illustration:

"Mr. Jones Franks, of Gum Log district, comes forward with a record of profits in producing poultry last year which is almost startling. He kept his books accurately and his report for the year gives a very encouraging account of his year's work with his hundred hens.

"Jones started the year off with 100 hens which he bought for $125. He has paid all expenses from his flock and has quite a bit of cash now besides having increased his flock to 215 pullets and 9 roosters.

"His bookkeeping for the year totals as follows: Income from chickens sold, $344.36; income from eggs sold, $485.05; value of present stock chicks, $282.25; total, $1,111.66. Feed bill, $534.90; cost of 100 hens to start, $125; total, $659.90. Net profit, $451.70.

"The record of Mr. Franks is one of the best ever recorded in Franklin or any other county. Mr. Franks is one of the teachers of the county and he gave very careful and skillful attention to his flock. But they paid him back for it and he is rejoicing over his experience with poultry last year.

"In this account Mr. Franks made no record of the chickens and eggs his family used during the year, which was considerable."

The record made by this Franklin county farmer can be made by any farmer in Georgia who will apply the same hard work, care and business methods in marketing.

GERMANY'S PEACE MESSAGE.

In a special message to America, published in the "New Germany" number of the Survey Graphic of February, and released Monday, Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister of the German reich, declares that the general acceptance of the Kellogg anti-war pact, will "materially modify the injustices imposed on the reich." He says:

"The German republic asks nothing more or better than to be upon terms of complete and understanding friendship with its neighbors as well as with all the other civilized states of the world, and to play, to the limit of its ability, its part in the great tasks which confront humanity."

This is the expression of a fine spirit, and one that is appreciated by Americans generally. The Germans understand only too well that things of the past, connected with the complicated historical heritage of Europe, have left accumulated problems which only time and patience and the wisdom of well-meaning leadership can assuage.

In the meantime no one can dispute the fact that since the war Germany has been concerned most in rebuilding its own house and the making of it a fit dwelling place for the German spirit. The nation has heavy burdens but it is carrying them with commendable courage and fortitude.

It is gratifying to all the nations of the world—France not excepted—that the new Germany is accomplishing a marked economic rehabilitation without any intent or purpose to live otherwise than in harmony and peace with the rest of the world. It is thinking less of the past and more of the future.

In building a real fellowship of humanity, which is the purpose of the Kellogg treaty, Germany has demonstrated the right disposition.

IDEAL SELECTION.

No better selection as chairman of the citizens' advisory committee, to recommend more economical and coordinating methods in city government, could have been made than that of Robert F. Maddox, former mayor and prominent banker and civic worker. As his immediate official associates, Colonel Bugg, president of the A., B. & C. railroad, as vice chairman, and R. R. Otis, well-known realtor, as secretary, the heads of the commission of 25 citizens will be generally pleasing to all the people of Atlanta.

This commission is the result of a commendable determination on the part of Mayor Ragsdale to take up the slack in government functioning, eliminate overlapping, and secure more efficiency through consolidations and centralization.

The program that was adopted in Baltimore has been admirably explained to the business men of Atlanta and, at one of the most notable dinners ever held in this city, adopted by motion of Councilman Wiley Moore.

Mr. Maddox, having given so much study to Atlanta's governmental problems, is ideally equipped for the chairmanship to which he has been called.

VINSON'S COTTON BILL.

The bill of Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, providing the regulating of the New York cotton exchange through government supervision, and making the southern ports, two of which are in Georgia, points of delivery, should be enacted.

It passed the house unanimously and a companion bill, by Senator Smith, of South Carolina, is pending in the senate. In the meantime the Vinson bill has been transmitted to the senate.

The Smith bill has been caught in the senate jam, due to the deadlock on the cruiser bill, but will probably be passed at the extra session if the limitations permit it. At any rate, the Vinson bill, sooner or later, will very probably become a law. Public opinion is almost unanimously in favor of it.

By this token the next legislature in this state should revise the existing cotton contract act along sound and sane lines, by which Georgia may have, in conformity with federal laws, points of delivery. As it is today the cotton producer, even though he sells his staple to a local mill, is forced to pay a fictitious freight charge to New York.

Such a situation is not only economically, but morally, wrong.

YOUNG POLICEMEN.

Atlanta must have more policemen. The present percentage, as to population, is one of the lowest in the United States.

Mayor Ragsdale is heartily in favor of adding young men—not boys, but men from 21 to 30 to the force—and he is right.

No man is old who is in good health, and strong, with a healthy mind in a healthy body, even at the allotted three score and ten, but policemen—charged with the enforcement of law—should be young, full of energy, vitality and youthful earnestness to perform their duties properly, with cool heads, and virile spirits.

An Atlantan says he enjoys his old home-town weekly paper and especially some of the death notices. That's an acknowledgement that in his youth he stole watermelons and peaches and operated tic-tacs.

Dr. Bailey Willis, of the Leland Stanford university, claims that "all human beings are children of the sun." And in the winter time they are children for the sun.

Canvassers are soliciting business for 1929 Christmas cards. There is nothing like doing your Christmas shopping early.

The Kellogg pact spells peace when it passeth all misunderstandings.

Mr. Hoover says that Mr. Coolidge is "still president." Still is right.

The woman who won $500 at the recent talking match has had no offers of marriage.

Just as we expected. The last two little wars were cheap ones.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Changing Missions.

The world's colonial powers do not like to think of the day when the indigenious populations will claim the right to decide their own fate. As soon as a movement gets under way among the natives, looking for a greater measure of autonomy, its sponsors are usually dubbed traitors or subversive individuals, dangerous and all that. How loath, too, do the powers seem to grant China complete freedom in her own affairs. And yet it is curious to observe that there is one authority in Europe that has begun to recognize the fact that some day relationships between eastern nations and their European guardians and guides are to undergo a profound change. That authority is the Vatican. For how else must we interpret the present pontiff's solicitude and that of his secretary of foreign affairs for the religious independence of the world's colonies. Everywhere in the Orient natives are being trained for the priesthood, and even raised to episcopal dignity, supplanting the foreign missionaries of former days. At one time European countries favored the extension of missionary activity as a spearhead of peaceful penetration. The Catholic church is no longer favoring these interests of the different imperialisms. It has apparently been realized that foreign missionaries might, in days to come prove grave obstacles in the development of native nationalism, and that in the urge for autonomy, foreigners may be the first to experience the rising power of the peoples. This would be detrimental to the spiritual work of a church that is called universal. Hence the significant change in the spirit of foreign missions that we witness in our day.

Jewish Agency.

A decision likely to speed up considerably the building up of Palestine has been taken by the conference of the International Zionist executive. This body by a vote of 39 to 5, has agreed to hand over the administration of Jewish affairs in Palestine to an organization known as the "Jewish Agency" and composed one-half of Zionists and one-half of non-Zionists, in each case chosen from representative Jews throughout the world. The formation of the Jewish agency was contemplated in the mandate for Palestine, which was given to Great Britain after the war and article four of the mandate reads: "That an appropriate Jewish agency shall be recognized as a public body for the purpose of advising and cooperating with the administration of Palestine." However, for the seven years that have elapsed since, the larger "agency" idea has been hanging fire. Even today a certain group within the Zionist movement, known as the revisionists, has criticized and opposed the idea of bringing about the cooperation of the non-Zionists. Still for the first time since the war the world beholds a united Jewry, with one specific aim, the priority of Palestine's restoration, above all other considerations.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

WHAT THE HEALTH AUTHORITIES NEVER TELL.

The general run of health authorities in this country are still holding out for the non-infectious "cold." That is presumably an illness one gets from chilling or some such cause, and not from infection. No public health authority, I think, ventures to define or describe the illness, or to indicate how anybody, physician or layman, can distinguish such an illness from an infectious disease in case such distinction should seem necessary. No public health authority, I believe, would accept in good faith a report of illness or death from such a non-infectious disease, if a physician should choose to record "cold" a the nature of illness or the cause of death. No, these health officers who so obstinately insist that chilling or exposure does cause some kind of illness other than frostbite apparently mean it for popular consumption, not for purpose of vital statistics.

Here in a bulletin issued to the public by the health officer of a large city I find nine causes of "colds" listed, thus:

1. The contagious factor; passing it from one to another.
2. Lowgred bodily resistance.
3. Overheating and uneven room temperature.
4. Insufficient humidity.
5. Fatigue and lack of exercise.
6. Improper diet.
7. Irregular bowel movements.
8. Irritant dust and smoke.
9. Lack of sleep.

The second cause— "lowered bodily resistance" — exists only in the imagination of the writer. There is no scientific evidence that there is any such thing as resistance. If the idea the writer is trying to convey refers to immunity, he should say so. The trouble is that "lowered immunity" isn't so easy to toss off, if you have any scientific knowledge of immunity.

The first factor—"passing it from one to the other"—is really the only one in the list that is reasonably warranted by actual scientific evidence. The other seven factors in the list are wholly conjectural.

While the recent "flu" scare was on — and it was a scare, largely whooped up by the federal health bureau itself, through a penchant for giving out news — the head of that bureau got into print early and often with his rules for avoiding the influenza. He concocted no less than 11 rules and several of them were good rules for everybody to obey all the time, flu or no flu. But a few of them were not so sensible. See if you can pick out the sound ones from the list:

1. Avoid needless crowding; walk to and from work; avoid overcrowded street cars, buses, etc.
2. Get as much open air and sunshine as you can.
3. Sleep with windows open; be sure homes well ventilated.
4. Avoid people who are coughing, sneezing, or snuffling; do not cough or sneeze without using a handkerchief.
5. Wash you hands before eating; do not put fingers in mouth or nose. You may infect yourself by shaking hands or touching objects then carrying fingers to mouth or nose.
6. Do not use eating utensils others have used, unless the utensils are washed or sterilized. Avoid common drinking cup.
7. Keep up your general health, first, by using inside and outside plenty of clean water; second, by eating clean, wholesome food; third, by sleeping at least seven hours out of each 24; and fourth, by keeping the bowels regulated.
8. Keep away from houses where there are cases of influenza.
9. Avoid chilling.
10. Avoid overheated rooms.
11. In case the disease develops, go to bed immediately, and remain there until recovery. Call doctor at once.

No. 7 is good enough for life. I'll bet the chief of the health bureau got that one out of one of old Dr. Munyon's almanacs.

All these compilers of rules omit the main precaution: Try to keep out of the conversational range of anybody who purports to have a "cold."

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

Europe's Fresh Scheme To Pick the Pockets of Honest Uncle Sam.

Washington, January 22.—(Special.)—There is a fresh conference proposed in Europe to consider the German reparations to the allies — France, Great Britain, Belgium and Italy.

France is implacable and demands the "pound of flesh" nominated in the bond, so to speak, or else some reduction of her war debts to her allies and the United States that will be the equivalent of whatever rebate she allows upon the German reparations.

England is in hard straits, financially and economically, and wants France to pay what she owes on war account to the British exchequer.

Belgium and Italy both have pressing needs for every sou or lire that was awarded to them from Germany.

Hence the need of all of them to find out how much they can squeeze out of Germany and how long the squeezing will have to be prolonged?

* * * *

Seeing Uncle Sam as a Sucker.

In their perplexity, and unable to supply the financial wisdom called for by the situation, the leaders of the nations concerned have taken up the notion that they can find succor from Uncle Sam—which means that they hope to find a "sucker" in Uncle Sam!

And that is exactly what Uncle Sam would be if he allows himself to be dragged into their conferences over their reparations and debt problems.

Their politicians and financial jugglers have kept up since the Versailles treaty was signed an incessant cackle that German reparations and the war debts, including those due to the United States, are logically, morally and necessarily interlaced. On that premise they contend that this nation should engage as a principal in any adjustment of those troublesome issues.

And that, in hard-boiled American language, that we are to be "the goat" and upon us to be loaded the burden of paying the bulk of the financial costs of the world war by furnishing Germany the money to pay the allies so that they can pay us! Slick scheme—what!

* * * *

Trying to Smoke Us Out.

On Monday S. Parker Gilbert, the American financial expert selected as a neutral to supervise compliance with the Dawes plan, sailed for this country to sound out our Washington authorities and the American international bankers on the subject of what our relations may be to the new forthcoming reparations conference.

The Europeans hope that he will be able to persuade our authorities to join that conference, commit our people to its conclusions, and get the consent of our bond-mongering bankers to unload ten or more billions of German long-term reparations bonds upon a gullible army of American investors.

It will be interesting to hear Mr. Gilbert explain why, if France, Great Britain, Belgium and Italy cannot trust Germany to honorably pay to them her agreed reparations, we should do so? They have had Germany in shackles, so to speak, since the great war ended; they are in arm's reach of all she has; they can help her every day to build herself into solvency; they haven't an iota of reason for asking the United States to assume and carry the burdens they have imposed in revenge upon her!

* * * *

Give Mr. Gilbert Plain Talk.

If Mr. Gilbert is really coming over here upon the mission reputed to him, he is not the intelligent and expert person that he has been touted to be.

President Coolidge, with courageous and commendable frankness, has spoken but recently the almost unanimous popular American mind on the subject of Europe's duty to pay her debts to us like honest peoples.

We have sympathetically considered their conditions and prospects and scaled their debts to us with unprecedented generosity—only to be damned as Shylocks because we did not hand them a free receipt in full!

So we may take it for granted that President Coolidge will not put Uncle Sam and his treasury into a conference where they can be frisked for the little matter of ten billion dollars by a crew of debtors who do not mean to pay, but hesitate to openly welch!

Accordingly Secretary Kellogg goes no further than to say that if the allies want to select some American financial onlookers at their conference, this government will not object—but in no sense may they be looked upon as even our official observers.

* * * *

There Is Something Else Again.

Another thing can be safely taken for granted and that is the attitude of President-elect Hoover toward the proposition to tax our own people ten billions of dollars, plus a few billions of interest money, to be handed back to them in redemption of their Liberty and Victory loan bonds.

Herbert Hoover is not such a fool as to believe that 22,000,000 Americans chose him to be their president with warrant to gold-brick them in the matter of the war debts due them from those people whose national lives our money and men saved them—and at a cost which President Coolidge says will ultimately reach one hundred billions of dollars to our people alone!

Mr. Hoover will get here to Washington in time to meet Mr. Gilbert, and it is confidently predicted that, having the intimate knowledge of European conditions that he gained during and since the great war, he will give Mr. G. some plain talk that will open wide the purblind eyes of European leaders and cause them to abandon any notion that they can play the "come on" game with Uncle Sam!

COUNCILMAN WHITE IS VICTIM OF CUPID

friends Tuesday afternoon and were married at a quiet ceremony in Dr. Christie's study.

Mr. White has been chairman of the parks committee of city council for the past several years, and as such has been in active charge of summer playgrounds operated by the city. The romance was begun when Miss Pearson became associated with the playground system last summer.

Hundreds of friends of the couple will be interested in the event.

Mrs. White was graduated from Woodberry Hall in the class of 1927, and while a student there became a member of the Delta Pi Delta sorority, and was athletic director of the institution for two years. She is a blonde of striking beauty.

Mr. White has been active in local political and civic circles for many years, and is regarded as one of the most aggressive members of city council. He served as a lieutenant overseas during the world war and was wounded.

He is president of the White Realty and Construction company, located in the Thrower building.

A total of $18,829,086.85 would be returned the counties, figures of the association show.

FIGHT ON McBRIDE COMES INTO OPEN

there is likely to be a 'row,'" he said. "I have not had any official advices concerning the matter. All I know is what I have seen in the press. From the dispatches it appears that there is some difference of judgment between General Superintendent F. Scott McBride on the one hand and Bishop Thomas Nicholson, president of the league, and Bishop James Cannon, Jr., member of the executive committee, on the other hand, as to whether so large an increase in the appropriation for enforcement could be used affectively at the present time and with the present enforcement machinery and is therefore necessary. Such difference of judgment is not strange among men of strong personalities and convictions. Whatever the difference of judgment, it will not in any way affect the activities of the league."

Dr. Barton expressed the belief that larger appropriations are needed, but that he is willing to leave the decision of the amount to congress and other responsible government officials.

SENATOR HARRIS WINS IN DRY FUND VOTE

ditional $50,000,000 be provided but that, like the proposal of Senator Bruce, a wet, to increase the fund by more than $250,000,000 was rejected.

The most recent attempt of the Georgia senator caused considerable dissension among dry leaders after Secretary Mellon had sent a letter to the senate recommending that the increase be disapproved. Some officials of the anti-saloon league asked for the appropriation of the money, others said it was not needed.

While the amendment which would provide the money does not mention Mr. Hoover by name as the president who will use the money, it in all probability would be his lot to use it because President Coolidge has scarcely enough time to do so. The amendment merely directs "the president of the United States" to make use of the funds and would permit them to be available until June 30, 1930.

Parties on Split.

The adoption of the Harris proposal prevented the senate from acting upon an amendment by Senator Jones, republican, Washington, a dry, to provide $1,250,000 for a publicity campaign in favor of law observance and to greatly increase the field force of the prohibition department.

Nearly the equivalent of four full sessions of the senate was consumed with debate of the Harris and associated proposals. The argument disclosed an unusual lineup of wet and drys for and against the proposition and, similarly, no cleavage or parties to one side or the other.

The windup of discussion this afternoon found upwards of a dozen senators participating in the debate.

Those arguing for the increase included Senators George of Georgia, Heflin of Alabama, Tyson of Tennessee, Smith of South Carolina, Bratton of New Mexico, and Simmons of North Carolina, democrats, and Brookhart of Iowa, republican. Those who opposed it included Bruce of Maryland, and Reed of Missouri, democrats, and Shortridge of California, a republican.

Money Not Necessary.

Senator Shortridge declared the money was not necessary because Mr. Hoover has promised to conduct an investigation of prohibition and said that congress should await its outcome.

The increase was opposed by Senator Reed on the grounds that he did not favor appropriating money without specifications as to just how it was used.

Senator Broussard declared he would vote for the Harris proposal but not for the Jones amendment because he considered it the setting up of "a propaganda bureau."

A declaration by Senator Bruce that Senator Harris had asserted there were 50 bootleggers now where only one saloon existed before prohibition caused Senator Heflin to interpose that there was not "one-fiftieth" of the liquor sold now as in the past. Heflin said he had not seen a half dozen men drunk in Washington in several years.

Glass Hits at Heflin.

In reply to a statement by Senator Bruce that Paul, the Apostle, approved of liquor for medicinal purposes, Senator Heflin observed that "whisky could be bought by any senator for such a purpose."

"How does the senator know that?" shot out Senator Glass, who immediately reseated himself to chuckle behind his newspaper while the usually quiet senate heard some laughter.

Additional funds for prohibition were advocated by Senator Tyson, democrat, Tennessee, who declared that "this country is dry and wants prohibition."

He declared it would be at least a year before results of a survey would be available.

"It will take years to educate the people," he added, "and I sympathize with those charged with enforcement of the law."

Tyson said he had a "high opinion" of Secretary Mellon and declared that he had made a "great success" except in the administration of the prohibition bureau.

"He owes it to himself and to the country," he declared, "to promptly improve enforcement."

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL CHOOSE HEAD TODAY

that I should be asked to give in this capacity."

"But, aside from these personal reasons, there is at the present time one consideration which overshadows all others, and that is that the best interests of the club demand the continuance in office of Mrs. Charles Goodman and the officers associated with her who have served during the past eight months by order of the court," Mrs. Boykin declared. "These officers have given us splendid, courageous, and efficient service in maintaining and carrying on the business of the club."

Urges Retention of Officers.

"In appreciation of this good work and in consideration of the needs and best interests of the club we should retain these officers to complete their year's work without interruption. Nominally only the office of president is being filled at this election, but in fact this entire group of officers must be taken into consideration. These officers are: Mrs. Charles Goodman, president; Mrs. Shepard Bryan, first vice president; Mrs. Victor Kreigshaber, second vice president; Mrs. R. I. Reed, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert B. Cunningham, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. T. G. Delph, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. A. Carlisle, treasurer; Mrs. O. F. Kaufman, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. John F. MacDougald, auditor," Mrs. Boykin said.

"A vote for Mrs. Goodman is a vote for each one of these officers and a vote against Mrs. Goodman is a vote against each one of these officers," Mrs. Boykin declared. "I beg that each of my friends shows her loyalty to the highest interests of the club which we all love by voting with me rather than for me. We have had a good administration—let us keep it."

Would Protest Nomination.

Mrs. Thomas said that if she is nominated for the presidency of the club, that she will protest it. Mrs. Thomas urged support of Mrs. Hornady, pointing out that "there is but one woman and one principle" for her group. Supporters of Mrs. Hornady have never wavered in their loyalty to her for a minute, Mrs. Thomas said.

Friends of Mrs. Hornady held a meeting in her behalf Monday at the Henry Grady hotel.

The dispute over the presidency of the club began last May when Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, the retiring president, declared that Mrs. Goodman was elected. Mrs. Hornady's supporters held another election after the departure of Mrs. Smith, and elected Mrs. Hornady. Mrs. Goodman was granted an injunction by Judge Humphries, and served as president under that court order for eight months, efforts of Mrs. Hornady's supporters to oust Mrs. Goodman by quo warranto proceedings failing. The state supreme court handed down a decision reversing the decision in superior court and ordering a new election under supervision of the trial judge.

MIAMI HONORS HOOVER'S PARTY

from the fourth Florida district; Louis Oates, British consul at Miami, and Domingo J. Milord, Cuban consul at Key West.

In a procession of 34 official automobiles the Hoover party made its progress through Miami's business section to a receiving stand erected on Bayshore boulevard, where during a pause Mayor Sewell presented Mr. Hoover with a giant key to Miami.

Two complete fishing outfits, ready for use by the president-elect whenever he chooses to exercise his desire for fishing, also were given him at the receiving stand.

Dempsey Greets Party.

The party passed on through the streets of Miami, full almost to overflowing with the cheering hosts, and through a "stationery" parade of displays by the various state societies and Florida cities and counties.

Flowers were presented to Mrs. Hoover by Girl Scouts as the motorcade moved toward its destination.

Across the causeway the motorcade went, welcomed continuously by airplanes overhead and by coast guard boats, yachts and steamers in the Bay of Biscayne. Behind the motorcade, in Miami, could be seen a panorama of tropical color and man-made skyline, with an added touch of color in the flags of the American and Pan-American nations that draped the streets.

Automobiles and people, halted alongside the causeway, kept up their greeting to the president-elect and his party, the crowds growing in density again as the motorcade left the causeway on the Miami Beach side.

Here was a more informal greeting, with swimming suits and bronzed skins, beach clothing mingling with the whites and lighter colors of wearing apparel.

At the Miami Beach city hall the greetings in person. The respects of the state and the governor were conveyed to Mr. Hoover by Mr. Milford, while Mayor E. G. Sewell, of Miami, extended a greeting from that city and Mayor Louis Snedigar, of Miami Beach, welcomed the president-elect in behalf of this municipality.

At the train also were Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, congresswoman-elect respects of Mayor Snedigar and the residents of this fashionable resort were again proferred to the Hoovers through the medium of a floral key. Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion and promoter for the Sharkey-Stribling fight to be staged here, paid his respects to the party here.

On their arrival at the Belle Isle residence and estate of J. C. Penney a few minutes later, an hour and 10 minutes after they had dismounted from the train, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were greeted on behalf of Mr. Penney by Burdette G. Lewis.

To Go Fishing Soon.

The cars of the motorcade stopped here for a few minutes to allow for a part of their passengers to alight, while other members of the Hoover party went to hotels where they were to be quartered temporarily.

The president-elect will spend tonight in the first 1928 election republican state in which he has paused for a visit since his election. Among the palms and other tropical foliage of the Penney estate, he will spend an undetermined period as the guest of Florida, with occasional fishing voyages aboard the "Amitie" houseboat of Joseph H. Adams, who owns the estate next to the preinaugural residence, and on the Patsy, another and smaller craft which has been placed at his disposal.

Mr. Hoover is still considering a trip to the West Indies during his stay here, it was said tonight, but no definite plans have been made for the voyage.

He was understoood to be planning a day or two of fishing in the near future, and that, with the work he has ahead of him, may interfere with any prospects he has for a visit to the islands. He is not believed to have a great deal of work scheduled for his stay here, but will endeavor to gain some rest before he returns to Washington for the inauguration or makes other plans.

The Penney home, completely refurnished for the visit of the next president, appeared to please Mr. and Mrs. Hoover as they entered and realized that their journey from Washington to Florida was completed.

Members of the party reported a welcome all along the route since daylight broke on the train in Forida this morning.

One of the greetings accorded Mr. Hoover was waved by a tiny, pink clad girl astride an elephant at a Miami Beach street corner. Mr. Hoover caused his car, the second in the procesison, to stop while he waved her a personal greeting. The elephant formed the central figure of a host of enthusiasts bearing a banner "Florida's Hoover republicans."

Rigid Enforcement Of Traffic Laws Urged by Malcom

Friendship and its resultant partiality should have no place in the official life of a policeman who is enforcing traffic laws, according to Lieutenant Jack Malcom, recently named head of the traffic department of the police forces.

In a talk to the men Tuesday morning, the third of the kind which he has given since the present traffic drive started about a week ago, Lieutenant Malcom indicated that some men might be shifted about so they wouldn't be embarrassed by having old friends' cars on their beats. Lieutenant Malcom made it clear that he did not intend to "shake up" the force to the extent of dropping anyone but merely wishes to make a few changes, particularly on downtown beats, so that officers who have been on beats long enough to make friends may be changed.

As the result of the work of officers during the past week Recorder Callaway was kept busy Tuesday afternoon passing on about 80 cases. The major portion of these were accused of illegal parking and most of them drew the usual $6 fine for first offenders.

Pensacola
"In The Hill Country of The Gulf Coast"

Pensacola is a port where two trunk line railroads meet the deep water of the Gulf. It is the closest major U. S. port to the Panama Canal and to the Pacific Coast of North America, South America, and Asiatic ports. Steamers to major ports of the world exchange export and import freight here with the railroads which serve the Central West, North, and East by direct main line connections.

Pensacola is closer than any other Gulf port to all principal points in the Southeast, to practically all points on the Ohio River and points north, in Central Freight Assn. territory.

Combined rail and water distance from 12 of the principal shipping points in the Central West to 14 principal world ports is shortest through Pensacola in comparison with through distances via the principal Gulf, South Atlantic, and North Atlantic ports.

More than 100 industrial plants located here manufacture 175 different commodities from raw materials largely of local origin. Parsons, Klapp, Brinckerhoff & Douglas, New York engineers, recommend establishment in Pensacola of 32 additional key industries. These are discussed in detail in a survey made by this organization.

Because of favorable climatic conditions, the Navy Department has its largest air training station at Pensacola.

Fertile lands in back country offer advantages to fruit growers, truck, poultry, dairy, stock, and standard crop farmers.

Year 'round climate, modern schools, churches, parks, and other civic considerations make Pensacola one of the country's most attractive home cities.

GILL DIES WHEN AUTO PLUNGES INTO RIVER

Body of Bruce Gill Is Found by His Brother Near Latter's Home.

Drowned when the automobile he was driving plunged into the Chattahoochee river, near the Paces Ferry road section, the body of Bruce D. Gill, of 481 Jones avenue, was found Tuesday afternoon b his brother, C. R. Gill, who lives on the Cobb county side of the river, just a few yards from the scene of the mishap.

According to the opinion of Coroner J. R. Williams, of Cobb county, who investigated the case, Mr. Gill lost his way in the darkness Monday night when driving to the home of his brother, and plunged into the river.

When the body was located in the submerged sedan, it appeared as though Mr. Gill had been attempting to escape but was trapped in the car by the river current. C. R. Gill said he noticed the upper portion of the sedan in the current of the river, just a few yards from his residence upon arising Tuesday. Investigation of the submerged sedan disclosed the body of Bruce Gill. The feet of the drowned man were still on the running board when rescuers dislodged the body.

According to C. R. Gill, whose home is situated on a high bank on the edge of the river, his brother had called upon him Monday afternoon and had promised to return again that night. Mr. Gill waited for him but finally went to bed, thinking his brother had been detained in Atlanta. Mr. Gill believes his brother either skidded off the high embankment in driving to the residence, or had lost his way in the darkness and plunged into the river, Mr. Gill said.

Bruce Gill was well known in Atlanta and was a veteran of the Spanish-American war. He is survived by his mother and a second brother, H. S. Gill, both of Atlanta.

The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Awtry & Lowndes company, where it is being held pending funeral arrangements.

Russian Economic "Success" Is Hit In Emory Speech

"Despite figures to the contrary, Russia's economic condition is not signifying success of the new regime," declared Alexander F. Gavrelovchuk, native Russian, before the International Relations club, Tuesday night at Emory university. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Ross H. McLean, professor of history and director of the club.

Gavrelovchuk, a native of Vladivostok, Siberia, and the son of a Russion merchantman before the revolution, now is a student at Emory university. He is preparing for the mission fields in the Far East, and expects to return to Manchuria after about nine months more in this country.

"Propaganda from Soviet Russia would indicate that my country is achieving marked success under the new type of government," the student said. "As a matter of fact, I am sure that the soviet is having dire difficulties in preventing the rise of a new bourgeoisie class, which will control the capital of the country."

In his talk, the Russian reviewed the history of Russia through all its eras of reform, both religious and economic, commenting upon the first Christian movement in that country, when thousands of Russian citizens were forced to become Christians and to be baptized, at the point of guns. Concerning the communist revolution, he continued:

"The revolution was a natural break, and it is certain that the student class of Russia was ready for the change in government. But the trouble was that they did not comprehend the total situation of the Russian people. Most of them are farmers, and an agricultural society does not lend itself so easily to communistic principles. They are more individualistic.

"However, the Russian government is in a process of evolution. Already it has digressed extensively from the course it set for itself eleven years ago. There is, therefore, a possibility that some suitable form of government may be derived from the chaos of the past decade."

THREE INDICTED FOR BURGLARIES, ONE FOR ROBBERY

Three burglary indictments and a true bill charging robbery of $230 were returned Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury.

Jim Blackwell was indicted on a charge of burglarizing the store of F. W. Black, at 1140 DeKalb avenue, of clothes, shoe paste and cash of a total value of $42.50 on Friday.

Milledge Green was indicted on a charge of burglarizing the home of Mrs. Maud E. Jackson, on Brown Mill road, last Friday. The indictment alleged that Green took two pistols, a flashlight, candy, hose and eggs valued at $14.50. Green was held for county police at the point of a shotgun when seen emerging from the house, according to police.

Robert West was indicted on a charge of burglarizing the home of Tom Moore, at 1062-A Quarry street, S. W., of clothes valued at $73.60 on Friday.

Will Reese was indicted on a charge of robbing M. Nissenbaum, of 529 Humphries street, of $230, on January 14.

An indictment returned against John Hall charges that defendant with a felony, assault with reckless disregard for human life, in that Hall is alleged to have operated an automobile which ran over Robert Harrison, 13, of 364 Fifth street, N. E., at Fifth street and Durant place, on December 23. The true bill alleges that Hall drove the car while under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

$35,000 IS ASKED BY WOMAN IN SUIT; GETS $100 VERDICT

A verdict of $100 was awarded Mrs. Cora May Welch Tuesday by a jury in the federal court in her suit for damages against L. B. Mann, S. V. Carpenter, H. M. Tollerson and the National Surety company, in which she asked $25,000 from the three defendants and $10,000 from the National Surety company on the official bond of Carpenter, a former sheriff.

The plaintiff's petition charged that the three defendants had conspired against her for the purpose of forcing her to leave town so that her property could be acquired. The three defendants, in their reply, denied all the charges of "framing" the plaintiff.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT GETS MILLION TODAY

Money Will Be Used To Meet Obligations of Road Board.

The state highway department Wednesday will receive $1,000,000 from funds realized by the sale of 1929 automobile license tags, it was announced Tuesday by Secretary of State George H. Carswell. Mr. Carswell stated that a similar amount probably would be available by February 15.

Secretary Carswell, ex-officio state motor vehicle commisssioner, said that he had been informed the highway department was in need of funds to meet obligations and he was, therefore, making this early payment of tag funds although, under the law, he is not required to turn over any of this money until February 15.

Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway board, was quoted some weeks ago as saying the department had debts approximately $2,000,000 at the end of 1928 and it is believed the money to be made available today will be used to defray some of these obligations. Chairman Holder attributed the debts to flood damage to roads and bridges and overruns on contractors' estimates.

Yellow Jackets Face A. A. C. Cagers on Club Court Tonight

Stumpy Slated To See Action On Tech Team

Rival Quintets Will Clash at 8:30 O'Clock for First Time This Year.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

One of those battles that the boys in the back room like to refer to as tough, fast and serious comes off tonight when Tech's Yellow Jackets and the Atlanta Athletic club mix in basketball on the club court for the first time this year. The hour is 8:30.

It is, we suspect, going to be a good game. In fact, we have an idea it's going to be one of the kind that you can't miss. Tech has buzzed around through the conference this winter and no one yet has hopped up and defeated the Engineers. This despite the fact that last fall Roy Mundorff was worrying himself grey-headed trying to figure where he was going to get five men who could wear a uniform, much less play basketball.

Tech Quint Tough.

It seems that he found them and that the boys have learned how to check an offense and drift along making a couple of points for themselves every so often. It is almost surprising how regularly successful this system turns out to be and that the Athletic club is going to run into the most stubborn offense it has encountered this year is as plain as charcoal chips in a bottle of corn.

Tech's defense centers around a fellow named "Ginny" Wages, stocky guard. He is aided and abetted by Sid Goldin, veteran of last year.

It might be that there will be some changes in the Tech lineup tonight. Reports from out North avenue have drifted in to the effect that Mundorff has been monkeying considerably with his combinations, notwithstanding the fact that he has five conference victories.

Stumpy Thomason may make his debut tonight as guard. Stumpy did that, you know, back in his high school days and did it quite effectively. Then at Nashville Saturday night a distinct football atmosphere was present with the injection in the game of Maree and Brook, two of Bill Fincher's pet linemen.

It begins to look like the Athletic club is in closer danger of being defeated than at any time thus far. There are lots of people who say that the Tornado will blow through the Carnegie way gymnasium tonight with the vigor and devastation of a Florida hurricane.

Bean Boys Experienced.

But Coach Bean's bunch is experienced and the material is well-seasoned. It is fairly hard to keep a fellow like Pat Stephens from shooting a field goal every so often. It is fairly hard to keep Sam Ridgway or Cy Bell grabbing the ball when its under your basket. Brewer and McCrory have a system all their own when the ball is near the club's goal and Coach Joe's bunch is hard to stop.

Both teams are strong defensively and naturally the team which batters down the other's defense is going to come out on top. Who that will be we don't know.

PROBABLE LINEUP.

STRIB ARRIVES AT N. ORLEANS FOR FRIDAY GO

New Orleans, January 22.—(AP)—W. L. "Young" Stribling, who will swap blows with Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach, February 27, arrived here today to put finishing touches on preparations for a bout Friday night with Ralph Smith, California heavyweight.

The boxer announced that "Pa" Stribling would not be present for the fight Friday night.

"Pa has gone to New York" he said. "He's going to scout Sharkey. Sharkey fights in New York the same night I fight here."

Stribling was bubbling over with confidence that he would knock Sharkey out. Asked what round it probably would happen, he said.

"Oh, now, have a heart. Just as fast as I can. That's all I can tell you. I don't agree with those fellows who tell you before they get into a ring just what they're going to do in a ring or how they are going to do it."

Dark Horse Low In Pan-American

Edgewater Park, Miss., January 22.—(AP)—Ross McDade, a young golfer from Shreveport, La., proved a spectacular dark horse among a field of favorites in the qualifying round of the second annual Pan-American amateur golf tournament today and carried off medal honors with a par 72, a score never before shot in tournament play on Edgewater course.

Reserve Strength.

THUS far, the basketball team of the Georgia School of Technology under the tutelage of Roy Mundorff has been most surprisingly successful. The word "surprisingly" is used because after last season had ended all the observers—including Coach Mundorff—looked for a mediocre season this year.

Most of the stars were lost and while there was a lot of material out at the flats there were few stars and the strength lay more in quantity than quality. This fact seems hardly important in view of the success of the team but there is a lesson in athletics to be learned.

SO many times during the past football season it has been said that the strength of the Tornado lay in its reserves. All of which was undoubtedly true, at least in part. When one goes back over the detail of the games, however, he finds that in Tech's important games very few reserve men were used. In some cases the opposition used more reserve material than did the champions.

What is the answer? Does that prove that Tech's reserve material was of less value? On the contrary it proves that the reserve was undoubtedly the weight needed ot make a championship team out of a very good football machine.

ROY MUNDORFF has a few very good substitutes and they are playing a big part in the success of the Jackets up to this time. Their greatest value, however, in many cases is when they are SITTING ON THE BENCH. An element of psychology enters into the equation that is a bit hard to define yet easily apparent.

Just as it was during the football season the members of the first team are in their positions because the coach deems them the best men he has for the positions. BUT when these men know that men are seated on the bench who are good enough to take their places when they slip the least bit they will play their positions just that much better. There wasn't a man on the Golden Tornado of 1928 who was sure of his job. They had to work on the practice field and they had to work in games to hold their positions on the "first string."

SO it is with Mundorff's charges. He may lack some of the individual stars of other years but when a man starts in a game this year he does so with the full knowledge that he will be jerked out by the seat of his scant trousers if he fails to do as well as he knows how. Name a man on the "first string" cage team at Georgia Tech this year who is sure of his job. There ain't none.

All the world of fans loves an individual star and that is a natural feeling. Hero worship is a fond fault and will never be otherwise but the coach will tell you that most individual stars are made by the man on the bench waiting to jump up at the word. There are exceptions to this rule but that doesn't change the principle.

IF THE Georgia Tech basketball team goes through all the way in high gear this season you may wager that this matter of reserve strength on the bench is to blame.

Work or Play?

A correspondent writing to Grantland Rice asks of football, "How much is work and how much is play?" He quotes certain stars as saying that the game is all drudgery after the glamour of making the squad has worn off.

THAT is a most interesting question. Perhaps one that no man can answer. In some half score years of observation both inside and out we have made up our mind on this question, however, and here's the sayso: As a rule, a successful football player can trace at least 75 per cent of his success to love of the game and all it carries with it. The physical contact and thrill of competition, even in scrimmage, make him love the game. It is more than half play to him.

The SPOTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

CONCERNING FUNDAMENTALS.

Almost any one will admit that fundamentals are the foundation of any game. But there is one idea to be added to this statement, viz., that only a few actually know what the fundamentals of any game are. And this applies to any game you can name.

Out of 4,000,000 golfers certainly 99 per cent do not understand or visualize the few essential ingredients needed for correct swinging.

And you might be surprised to know this statement applies to any number of first-class players, amateurs and pros. They may know intuitively how to hit the ball, but any number find it difficult to pass the correct instruction along, because the actual fundamentals of the swing are still too vague. There are hundreds of fighters around, and not 1 per cent know the fundamentals of hitting—what punching power comes from and how to apply it.

You will hear that tackling and blocking are important fundamentals in football. They are. Yet it might surprise you to know how few actually understand what the correct fundamentals for tackling and blocking happen to be.

The fundamentals of most sports start with balance — and balance means motion under control. Few have this balance. Watch any big league ball game and see how few are correctly balanced as they hit the ball. Correct balance must let every part of the body do its work without any check or hindrance. Correct balance means the absence of tension. Take your golfers, tennis players, football players and fighters, and after a careful diagnosis you will see how few understand what balance really means. In golf there are nearly 4,000,000 who have no idea what it means. Their angle is that a post stuck in the ground is balanced. Only it isn't. A spinning top is correctly balanced, for here is motion under control, with all check and hindrance taken away.

By fundamentals I mean finer details that may not seem important, but are often highly so.

Concerning Fundamentals Again.

How many know that in a golf swing or a baseball swing, for example, if your weight is on the left foot through the back swing you are going to hit with your weight transferred back to the right foot?

All of which means merely that you are hitting exactly 100 per cent wrong. It means that you are trying to apply power in one direction while your body weight is traveling in the opposite direction. If you can do that you are the world's greatest contortionist. Yet I have seen this principle of weight on your left foot through the back swing taught as a fundamental. This is just a sample of thousands who are sure they have the fundamentals when what they happen to have is exactly the opposite.

Champions and Their Chances for 1929.

NO 9—MANDELL AND DUNDEE.

This proposition is fairly simple. Sammy Mandell is still the best lightweight in the business, unless he is handicapped by his broken arm later on. Any lightweight who can outpoint Jimmy McLarnin by as wide a margin as Mandell did is no part of a second-rater, as little as he has attempted to defend his title against any class.

Mandell is no chance taker of any sort, but he can box.

Joe Dundee is quite likely to get stopped by any good welterweight he meets—especially if said welterweight is Fields or Thompson. Thompson stopped him cold in a few minutes, and Fields beat Thompson.

Dundee has let the welterweight division slip completely to obscurity. Few remember that any such class exists.

"I think," writes a correspondent, "I have a new golf story for you"—which is as far as we read.

L. G.—As between Bob Grove and Dazzy Vance, it still gets down to the old matter of it being difficult to judge the speed of a ball you can't see.

"You can say for me," writes Mid-West, "that Lloyd Brazil, of Detroit, was the best back in the game last fall, bar nobody. Dorais was right when he said Brazil was a better all-round back than George Gipp, and none of these others was a George Gipp—which includes Cagle, Strong, Carroll and Scull."

Rickard Hits Snag; Forced To Move Bout

Loses $50,000 in California and Then Changes Fight Site to Nevada.

This is the only autobiography written by Tex Rickard. It was prepared in collaboration with Bozeman Bulger, for publication exclusively by The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance. Shortly before Rickard's death he discussed with Bulger plans for publication of these memoirs in book form. Following is the fourteenth installment of the autobiography, which is appearing in daily chapters.

BY TEX RICKARD.
(In collaboration with Bozeman Bulger.)

Written exclusively for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance. (Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.

My efforts to have the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Salt Lake City proved futile. I am still of the opinion that it should have gone there. As I have said, my judgment was based on the fact that Salt Lake City is nearer the center of population and would get the people from other sections.

The California crowd argued and argued. They brought every possible influence to bear for holding the big fight in San Francisco. The newspaper men of the coast took up the fight for San Francisco.

One of my objections was that the governor might not permit it. Thereupon the newspaper writers saw Governor Gillett. He told them that the laws of California permitted boxing and he saw no reason why the fight should not be held in San Francisco.

Rickard Gives In.

With this they finally wore me down and I gave in. The people of Salt Lake were disappointed, but I had done my best.

Then our troubles started anew. To begin with they made me buy a license which cost $6,000. Under the law a promoter had to have a license for a fight on a certain day. Another man had that date and I had to buy his license.

Next I had to arrange for building an arena. That in itself was a big job. After many negotiations I finally got a lot at Market and Eighth streets. We built an arena at a cost of $35,000, which, by the way, was a total loss.

Then, right in the midst of other difficulties, a dispute arose over the referee. Bergen and Jeffries would not agree to any man who suited Johnson and Johnson would not agree to any man selected by them. Everybody soon took a hand in the argument. Jack Welsh, Ed Smith, and Eddie Graney were all suggested. I couldn't get the principals to agree on any one of them. There were still others, but these were the main ones.

"What's the matter with you being referee?" Johnson finally suggested to me in desperation.

The idea of being referee had never occurred to me. I had had no experience.

"You don't need any," Johnson said, "as long as you are square."

This got to Jeffries in a few hours. Jeffries assented.

Decides to Referee.

Others came to me, and to settle the matter I decided to be the referee. I did not take it as a joke because I realized the responsibility of the job.

In the meantime we had started selling tickets, all of which had been printed at big cost. Much jealousy had arisen over one thing and another. Every body seemed confused and irritable.

We had out tickets for $300,000 and the money in the bank. I am sure that the fight would have drawn $700,000. It looked as if we were to see the record attendance of all times.

Then came the bombshell. Governor Gillett forbade the fight.

You can imagine what consternation this caused. And this, on top of all the troubles and expenses and arguments. It was enough to make a man throw up his hands. But we didn't.

I have never been able to discover why Governor Gillett changed his mind after giving us the assurance on which we spent so much money. He curtly declared that he would not permit the fight and that ended it. He gave no explanation.

Loses More Than $50,000.

Mind you, I was now out the $35,000 for the arena, not a cent of which I ever got back. I was out the $6,000 for the license, not a cent of which was ever returned to me. I was out all the incidental expense of promotion such as the tickets and innumerable details—more than $50,000.

In that troublesome time I will never forget Jim Jeffries.

"Tex," he said to me, "if we don't make a success of it now you can forget about the guarantee. Even if the fight is not held at all I will go anywhere and fight for you, or I will go on the road with a show to see that you don't come out loser."

A man who will do that is a real man. As long as I live I can never forget Jeffries for that.

"Never mind, we'll hold it," I assured him.

It was too late now to go back to the Salt Lake City people. I didn't have the nerve even if I had had the inclination. There was nothing left but to go to my own state, Nevada. I got in touch with Reno. They agreed to build an arena at no cost to me if we would bring the fight there. That was finally decided upon.

Then came the big move to Nevada. Those were exciting days. Training camps had to be moved, headquarters closed and everything. The newspaper colony moevd out in a body.

Rumors Are Spiked.

Some ugly rumors arose about the stake money. They were quickly silenced. Big Tim Sullivan, of New York, was there as stakeholder and he had the money, mostly in $1,000 bills. I was ready to go through with my end of it and take a chance.

Now arose the biggest problem of all. The money had to be returned to those who had bought seats in San Francisco if they wanted it. Those who wanted to keep their seats could get them transferred to the Reno stand. I imagine it isn't difficult for you to see what that meant. A jig-saw puzzle was tame alongside that.

I put a notice in the San Francisco paper that anybody who desired to have his tickets redeemed could do so by applying at the bank. The other difficulty of seats we had to settle at Reno.

I have a notion that you are now beginning to see the troubles of a promoter—especially a green one.

Atlanta Given Grand Circuit Racing Dates

Macon Also Gets Tentative Meeting in October; Harriman Named Head.

Indianapolis, January 22.—(AP)—Atlanta again was awarded a tentative date of October 14 to 18 by grand circuit stewards at their annual meeting here today.

Macon was given tentative meeting date of October 21 to 25.

Sixteen weeks of harness horse racing for the year was assured with the opening at Lexington, Ky., during the week of June 17 and the closing at the same track with a two weeks' meeting beginning September 30.

Five new cities are in the circuit. They are Grand Rapids and Detroit, Mich.; Hartford, Conn.; Aurora, Ill.; and Cincinnati. Representatives of these cities appeared before the stewards and gave assurance of support.

E. Roland Harriman, of New York, was elected president and Don Detrick, of Bellefontaine, Ohio, was elected secretary at the closing session. It was decided there would be no change in the rules which prevailed during the "Big Line" meetings of last year. Harry K. Deveux, president of the North Randall track, Cleveland, is the retiring president and A. C. Pennock, of Cleveland, is the retiring secretary.

The complete schedule of meets as finally approved follows:

Lexington, June 17 to 21; Toledo, June 24 to 28; North Randall, Ohio, July 1 to 5; Toledo, July 8 to 12; Kalamazoo, Mich., July 15 to 19; Grand Rapids, Mich., July 22 to 26; Detroit, July 29 to August 2; North Randall, August 5 to 9; Hartford, Conn., August 12 to 16; Goshen, N. Y., August 19 to 23; Syracuse, N. Y., August 26 to 30; Indianapolis, September 2 to 6; Aurora, Ill., September 9 to 13; Cincinnati, Ohio, September 16 to 20; Lexington, September 30 to October 11.

The week of September 16 was left open.

The committee on award of the Hambletonian stake, which carries the richest purse of any of the grand circuit events, postponed award of the event until February 5. This race was run at Syracuse last year.

Miller To Make Decision Today

Cleveland, January 22.—(AP)—Don Miller, assistant football coach at Georgia Tech university has been granted another twenty-four hours in which to consider an offer to become assistant to Sam Williaman, new head coach at Ohio State University.

Miller came here today from his home at Defiance and was in telephone communication with Ohio State officials at Columbus. He had been offered a contract for one year only, but insisted that a longer period be stipulated.

The Ohio State athletic board at a meeting today granted the extension.

Before Miller came to Cleveland he announced that he had been offered a contract by the University of Washington but tonight said that no definite proposal had been made to him by the western school. Georgia Tech, where he has been assistant coach for four years also wants him to return.

Harris To Captain Georgia Cagemen

Athens, Ga., January 22.—(Special.)—Jimmy Harris, of Athens, was today elected captain of the Georgia basketball team to replace Glenn Lautzenhiser, who has quit the team.

Lautzenhiser, who was also a co-captain of football, had not been playing regularly and has left the squad in order to devote more time to his studies. He will graduate in June.

Harris has been a member of the Georgia squad for the past two years but has never come into his own until this winter, playing fine basketball and is now tied with Henry Palmer, other forward, for point leadership of the team and conference.

The Georgia five plays its next game in Athens Thursday night, facing North Carolina. On Saturday night the Bulldogs meet Tech in Atlanta.

The Georgians have won six conference games and lost one, dropping an engagement to W. & L. on a recent road trip.

Masons Repudiate Protest of Nurmi

New York, January 22.—(AP)—The athletic committee of the second Masonic district, through its chairman, George Keiser, today repudiated the action taken by its secretary, Hack Harris, in writing an open letter of protest concerning Paavo Nurmi to the Amateur Athletic Union.

The letter charged Nurmi had been "influenced by a man or men with power in official track circles" to shift his entry from the Masonic games here next Saturday night to the Boston K. of C. meet the same date.

In a note of explanation and apology addressed to Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., to whom Harris' letter also was sent, Mr. Keiser apologized for Harris' act and said the latter's resignation as secretary of the committee had been requested and received.

Mr. Ferris was in New Haven today and it could not be learned from him whether a meeting which had been called for tomorrow to look into Harris' charges would now be held.

Al Lassman Leaves For Rest in Florida

New York, January 22.—(AP)—Al Lassman, New York university football captain who was severely injured in the game with Carnegie Tech November 24, was discharged from the hospital today and sailed this afternoon for Miami Beach, Fla. He expects to remain in the south for several weeks. He was accompanied by his college roommate, Alfred Higgins.

The Violets' captain has not completely recovered from the injury which nearly caused his death but on his discharge from the hospital it was reported that his condition is improving steadily.

Jack Dempsey Breaks Hand, Unable To Fight

Other Battles at Power Club End in Knockouts; Fans Pleased by Showing of Sid Lucas.

Gore aplenty and a trio of snappy knockouts delighted a crowd of more than 800 fight fans at the Georgia Power club show at the Piedmont avenue gym last night, although the main dishes, scheduled battles featuring Jack Dempsey, Atlanta's hopeful young welter, and an exhibition failed to meet expectations.

When the real fistic feast of the prelims was over, and the fans were licking their chops for more, Fat Elrod produced two fully dressed young lads, introduced them as Jack Dempsey and Marshall Caldwell, the LaGrange welter, and then offered a paper signed by Dr. W. A. Arnold, boxing commission physician, stating that Dempsey was suffering from a fractured hand and was not in shape to fight.

Carr vs. Avera.

Jackie Carr then stepped into the ring with Larry Avera, and these two local veterans stepped 10 rounds. Jackie very capably played the title role in a fistic version of "He Who Gets Slapped." There was much open glove slapping and some pretty footwork, and Jackie was the slappee 90 per cent of the session. Then Bob Springfield pulled Larry's hand on high, and the customers dove for the stairway.

From the battle royal, when Dusky Billy Hooper and his darktown babies spread dust and leather around the arena until Bruce Stroud and his Elecrical Workers quartet scored their knockout in six harmonious rounds, the real action was served up in generous portions.

Battle No. 1. Spud Meyers, 133 pounds, vs. Jess Bohler, 135 pounds, both Georgia Power company employees. Round One: Jess spilled Spud, but the bell saved him. Round Two: Spud spilled Jess. Round Three: Jess spilled Spud, who stayed spilt.

Fight Is Stopped.

Battle No. 2. Battling Maxwell, 152-pound baby boy of H. H. Maxwell, conductor and Power club wheelhorse, vs. Heavy McFarlan, of Carnesville, Ga., 147 pounds. The baby battler led with his left, severing eight or ten arteries in Heavy's proboscis. During part of two rounds the two fighters swam about the ring in Heavy's crimson tide, and just before Heavy's second was ready to throw in the towel, Referee Cy Young, disconcerted by a mouthful of blood, stopped the fight.

Battle No. 3. K. O. Mallard, of Ft. McPherson failed to live up to his initials in his embroglio with Sid Lucas, Eddie Hanlon's new green devil from in or near Washington, Ga. Sid socked K. O., who finally took a flock of counts until Referee Cy was tired of counting and pulled aloft Sid's paw. The only apparent casualty was K. O.'s left optic which had vanished from sight. Sid packs a punch and carries a level head and should be heard from.

NEW CLUBHOUSE AT WEST END OPENS FRIDAY

The new clubhouse of the West End Golf club will be opened for the first time Friday night, at 8 o'clock, according to an announcement by Luke Everett, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Every member is urged by President Max Pittard to be on hand for the session which will be devoted to business and pleasure.

W. E. Gathright, chairman of the building committee, will report on the progress of the new clubhouse, which his committee hopes to have fully completed by the time the spring golf season opens.

There will be a dancing contest among the West End caddies, to the music of a string band of negro players. Pon, Bo Peep, Jessie, Mason, "Gov'ment," Charlie Boy, "Bru" and several other bag toters have entered the jig competition.

There will be refreshments, including food. The evening's events will take place before a roaring log fire in the huge open fireplace in the lounge room. Albert R. Jones, West End pro, will be prevailed upon to illustrate the swing of some of his member-pupils.

M. M. Anderson, secretary, who is recovering from wounds in the legs received from a peppering of birdshot in a recent hunting accident, will attend. His injuries were not serious.

Changes in the West End course, necessitated by the location of the new clubhouse, will be presented by President Pittard for the approval of the members.

The new clubhouse is located atop the hill adjoining Donnelly avenue, by No. 7 green, and is approached from the entrance on Donnelly avenue.

Basketball

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

The Park Street Seniors surprised a large gathering last night at Wesley court when they defeated the St. Paul Feds in an upset within the Epworth Athletic association basketball loops. Martha Brown continued their unerring play in overcoming the St. Paul girls in a thriller, 13 to 11. In two other tilts, Grant Park Seniors swamped the Park Street Hi quintet, 28 to 10, and Epworth boys won from Haygood, 18 to 0.

T. H. S. CAGERS BEAT FULTON QUINT, 37 TO 14

Tech High's Smithies added another basketball victory to their 1929 string Tuesday afternoon when they defeated the green Fulton five, 37 to 14, at Tech High gym.

The Smithies, city champions, showed poorly at time, but once they hit their stride could not be stopped. Disdaining shorter goals, the gold players repeatedly shot from near the center of the court. A strong five-man defense by Tech prevented the losers from scoring a field goal in the first half. Fulton, however, rung four foul shots to trail 4 to 18 at the halfway mark.

Buster Moss was high scorer with five goals from the floor, but he was closely pursued by Chambers with 9 points. English and Chandler hooped 8 points, while Ransbothan tallied 5 points to lead the losers in scoring.

Chandler was the star of the game. This small guard displayed a flashy floor game, and an eye for the basket that accounted for three goals in the last half and one in the first. Chandler several times tossed the ball to a teammate for the shot when he had good chances himself.

A dogged Fultan defense, working on a five-man basis, kept plugging in spite of the mounting score. Fulton, a new team, with not a veteran back from last year, never threatened the Smithy lead, however.

G. M. A. WINS AGAIN; BEATS U. S. B., 32-24.

G. M. A.'s Cadets won themselves another game Tuesday afternoon by defeating the University school Bluebirds, 37-24, on the Oglethorpe court. The game was originally scheduled to be played at the Y. M. C. A. but the court there could not be secured and the teams traveled out to Oglethorpe for their game.

B. Clark and Pittman, forwards, were the shining stars of the game, each of them making 12 points for G. M. A. Carpenter, U. S. B. forward, played best for his team.

The Cadets started out in the lead and although University fought stubbornly, the Cadets got a 10-point lead and retained it throughout the game. G. M. A. led at the half by 22 to 13. It was University's first tilt and marked the fourth straight win for G. M. A.

The G. M. A. squad's next game is scheduled for Friday night with Tech High at the Tech gym.

Jack Reports Sale of Seats Going Strong

Promoter Forgets Business During Day To Welcome Hoover at Miami Beach.

Miami Beach, Fla., January 22.—(AP)—Plans and problems for the organization work for the Sharkey-Stribling fight were laid aside by order of Jack Dempsey, promoter, today, in order that a welcome might be accorded President-elect Hoover and his party.

Dempsey halted his work and a mass of detail to pay his respects to the next chief executive of the nation, as the motor car bearing Mr. Hoover and his party paused at the Miami Beach city hall for a moment.

With the selection yesterday of the Flamingo park site for the mixup of the night of February 27, instead of the Miami Beach Kennel club, Dempsey had his hands full this morning in considering the details of the fight from the new angle.

He will drop back into the routine of preparation for the go tomorrow, he said.

Reservations for seats at the arena continued to pour into the local office of Madison Square Garden corporation today and Dempsey was apparently pleased when he reported this item of considerable interest to the corporation and of general interest to the fight fans that are seeking a place from which to watch the melee.

Dempsey had apparently forgotten about the offer yesterday of a partnership with Humbert Fugazy in a venture for fight promotion, but he may be considering it in moments that are not filled with details of the fight.

Beach and Rice Win in Tourney

Palm Beach, Fla., January 22.—(AP)—Rex Beach, the novelist, who was medalist yesterday in the qualifying round of the Writers' and Artists' golf tournament, kept his form today by defeating Hal Marchbanks, New York, 5 and 4, in the first round of match play.

Grantland Rice, sports writer, and defending champion, bested Duncan Steward, New York, 4 and 3.

T. Kajiwara, St. Louis, defeated Fontaine Fox, the cartoonist, 3 and 1.

E. M. Benjamin beat M. C. Perley by default.

Jefferson Machamer, New York cartoonist, who yesterday tied with Grantland Rice for runner-up to the medalist, defeated Charles V. McAdams, of New York, 3 and 2.

Sam Harris, Broadway comedian, beat Arthur Somers Roche, novelist, of New York and Palm Beach, 3 and 2.

Ray McCarthy, New York, won from F. Newlin Price, Englewood, N. J., one up.

A. W. Sheph, St. Louis, beat Jimmy Powers, New York, one up.

Tarheels Defeat Wolfpack, 41-32

Chapel Hill, N. C., January 22.—(AP)—The Flying Phantoms of the University of North Carolina unleashed a powerful passing attack and did some almost uncanny shooting here tonight to defeat North Carolina State, 41 to 32. The university five took an early lead, though rated under-dog as a result of its loss to South Carolina last week, and held it all the way.

Captain Rufus Hackney led the phantom attack on the basket and was well supported by his entire team. The Tarheel leader scored 14 points for high honors with Maurice Johnson, State guard, getting nine. Johnson and Warren were best for State.

Carolina led, 20 to 13, at the half and soon after the second period started ran the count up to 28 to 15. The close defense of the Phantoms continually broke up the sliding passes tried by State, the Terrors resorting to many long shots to try and score in the last period.

Flock of Vets Seek Berths With Braves

Boston Boss Knows Little About What Material He Has for 1929.

BY WILLIAM R. KING.

Boston, January 22.—(AP)—President-Manager Emil Fuchs, of the Boston Braves, hasn't been worrying about his ball club lately. He hasn't had time.

The genial magnate, who startled the baseball world when he sold Rogers Hornsby and then announced he would manage the club himself, does not even know how many players he will have when his squad gathers at St. Petersburg, Fla., several weeks hence.

During the last few weeks, when he should have been perfecting his pre-season plans, Fuchs has been kept on the jump explaining his club's connection with the passage of the Sunday sports referendum and his efforts to obtain a Sunday baseball permit from the Boston city council.

Plenty of Assistance.

Fuchs is positive about one thing, however. He is going to have plenty of assistance managing his 1929 edition of the Braves. After trading Hornsby, he retained Johnny Evers and Hank Gowdy, who played for the club back in the happy days, as his understudies.

He is also going to have many veteran ball players, for he has claimed or bought every aging star waivered or put up for sale since last October. Among them are Joe Dugan, who helped the Yankees win five world series, and Rabbit Maranville, who played for the inspired Braves of 1914 and who, since then, has been burning up the National league with his extraordinary spurts.

Though Fuchs has given it no thought as yet, it is more than likely that Dugan will be holding down third base with Rabbit on his left at shortstop when the season starts. Freddy Maguire, who came from the Cubs in the Hornsby deal, is the logical choice for second base and George Sisler will probably be able to retain his first base berth.

Other Infielders.

The others on the infield list are Lester Bell, Eddie Farrell and Walter Gautreau, all with the club last season; Glen Messner, purchased from Toledo, and a youth named James, coming up from the Omaha club in the Western league.

The best outfield combination appears to be Lance, Richbourg and Earl Clark, back again in right and center, and either George Harper, late of the Cardinals, or Al Moore, purchased from Buffalo, in the left garden. Fuchs also has retained Eddie Moore, Jack Smith and Heinie Muller, who chased flies for Hornsby last season.

The catching department appears strong, comprising Zack Taylor, Al Spohrer and Bill Cronin, all veterans; Pat Collins, another ex-Yankee, and two rookies Dick Smith, drafted from Montreal, and Louis Leggett, purchased from Reading.

The veterans are Ed Brandt, Ben Cantwell, Johnnie Cooney, Arthur Delaney, Kent Greenfield, Elmer Hearn, Herman Holshouer, Bob Smith and Henry Wirtz. The newcomers are Percy Jones, another involved in the Hornsby trade; George Leverett, with Indianapolis last season; Bill Cunningham, who performed in Los Angeles last year; Harry Seibold, considered the best minor league pitcher of last year, when he played for Reading, and George Perry, late of Wichita, Kan.

Yanks Adopt Number Idea For Players

Huge Numerals To Be Worn on Backs of Team Members This Season.

BY WILLIAM J. DUNN,
United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, January 22.—(United News.)—The old familiar refrain that "you can't tell the players without a score card" will sound through American league ball parks with fresh emphasis this coming season whenever the New York Yankees are to appear.

For the Yankees' headquarters today announced an innovation in baseball which can only be ranked with the "ten-man nine" proposed by President John Heydler of the National league. The world's champions will take the field April 16 with the backs of their uniforms numbered with figures 14 inches high, just as football jerseys are numbered.

Lead-Off No. 1.

The lead-off man, presumably Earl Combs, will be "No. 1." And so on down the batting order, but each player on the roster will have a number which he will wear throughout the season—provided he stays with the Yankees. This will probably work out so that Babe Ruth's big "No. 3" will become as famous as the "77" once worn by Red Grange.

It is a little early to learn whether other major league clubs will adopt the Yankee plan of numbering the players.

Baseball fans so ardently familiar with the persons and personalities of ball players, may resent the innovation on the ground that it is an insult to their intelligence.

Idea To Be Appreciated.

But many a man who is taking his best girl to the game will appreciate it. Unless the lady friend suffers from astigmatism, it will not be necessary to explain that Babe Ruth is not the man wearing the mask.

Umpires unfamiliar with the faces of the players will be able to observe a batsman's numerals and so prevent chicanery in the matter of substitute batters and batting out of turn. Pinch hitters also can be identified optically as well as orally.

How the players will take to the idea remains to be discovered, but probably the only squawk will come from the man who is assigned "No. 13."

WHITE SOX MAY TAKE UP SYSTEM.

Chicago, January 22. — (United News.)—Harry M. Grabiner, secretary of the Chicago White Sox, said tonight that his club had given no consideration to uniforms for the coming season and that he did not know whether the Sox players would wear large numbers on their backs. "We'll talk that over in a meeting later," he said.

Six-Day Bike Race Proves Very Costly

New York, January 22.—(AP)—Leo Fogler, promoter of the recent six-day bicycle race at the Kingsbridge armory, has revealed that he lost between $10,000 and $15,000 on the venture.

Fogler said that his loss was due chiefly to the fact that the armory is located far out in the Bronx, many miles from the downtown section. The no-smoking edict promulgated by armory officials also hurt patronage, Fogler said.

Pay-off day for the riders, set for yesterday, was postponed because Jack Curley, Fogler's associate, was ill.

PICKING CAPTAINS

System of Selecting Leaders in South Fast Changing; 1929 Machines Will Be Led by Men Who Failed to Play in Game in 1928.

BY HORACE C. RENEGAR,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

A five-threat guard, a substitute center, two linemen who didn't get in a single game of the 1928 season and a couple of institutions which will choose a new leader each week feature the southern conference football captain situation for next fall.

Like the rules, the system of picking captains is constantly changing in the south, at least.

Ray Farris, North Carolina guard, will probably be the most versatile man in years to captain a team from that position, which is sometimes considered obscure. Yet, Chuck Collins, his coach, can vouch that Farris won't be buried from the spotlight at guard.

A big, brawny charger, he can also hold his own as a great punter and passer when called back, and on occasions he can also be counted on to carry the ball. He blocks well with the secondary and runs interference. At his line position he is constantly breaking through on defense to nab a runner or to break up passes.

Growing in Favor.

Begun by the University of Maryland last year, the system of electing a captain each week shortly before the kickoff apparently is growing in favor. The Old Liners will continue the practice. Now Mississippi A. & M. adopts it, but the Aggies will go further by naming the most astute season captain after the campaign is over.

Coach R. C. Byrd at Maryland found the system generally favorable last season, and in some quarters it has been pointed to as a practice calculated to keep down even slight dissension among those ambitious for the leadership and who fail to achieve the honor.

The University of Georgia, however, after trying a co-captain idea for a year, reverts to one leader. Jacobson, a guard, and Lautzenheiser, tackle, were joint captains last season, but Joe Roland, center, will go it alone this fall.

Virginia Tech and Tennessee offered striking proof in naming their leaders that time does not cause old stars to be forgotten. Howard Johnson, an outstanding guard of the Volunteers in 1927, and Broderich Nutter, end at Blacksburg, both failed to get in a single play last year, because of injuries. Yet, the squads promptly honored them for 1929.

Tech Springs Surprise.

The championship Georgia Tech squad sprang the surprise of them all, however, in passing up its better-known stars to choose Harrell Rusk, a substitute center.

The Atlantans didn't overlook the fact that Rusk, a consistent center, was the victim of being at Tech during the era of two of its greatest pivotmen—Peter Pund and Owen Poole.

Alabama Tech, of Auburn, does not elect a captain until late in February.

The leaders and their positions:
Billy Hicks, Alabama, quarterback.
No captain named yet for Alabama Polytechnic institute.
O. D. Padgett, Clemson, halfback.
Kistler, Duke, tackle.
Rainey Cawthon, Florida, fullback.

Harrell Rusk, Georgia Tech, center.
Ed Covington, Kentucky, halfback.

GOLDSTEIN CHAMPIONS AMERICAN FAMILY LIFE

Address at Columbian Hall Hits Modern Looseness of Marital Bonds.

The family as an institution and a powerful influence for good in American life was strongly championed Tuesday night in an address given by David Goldstein, of Boston, at Columbian hall under the auspices of the Atlanta council, of the Knights of Columbus.

In defending the family, Mr. Goldstein vigorously attacked the prevalence of divorce and other forces which are tending to loosen the bonds of marital relationships. Judge Ben Lindsey, champion of companionate marriage, fell under the criticism of Mr. Goldstein as did Bertrand Russell and the doctrinaire socialists.

The speaker pointed to soviet Russia as an example of a country in which the sanctity of the family has been officially disregarded, where birth control and divorce are rampant.

He then turned his attention to the United States, saying that here the divorce rate is second only to that of Russia. Seeing in this high rate the cause of great misery and lowering moral standards, Mr. Goldstein appealed for a return through the church to the belief in "old-fashioned" conceptions of family bonds and their integrity.

In discussing the history of the family and its present problems, Mr. Goldstein said: "There is nothing wrong with the origin, form and function of the family, for it was designed by Almighty God, whose designs are perfect. The wrong lies in irreligion, in marriages that take place upon the basis of mere sex fondness, in the materialistic standards that disgrace family life, cause the increase in the number of broken homes and thus weaken the moral fiber of America."

KING GEORGE REMOVAL TO SEASIDE IS PLANNED

London, January 22.—(AP)—In order to assist King George's progress towards convalescence, it is planned to remove him from Buckingham palace to the seaside to obtain the benefit of the invigorating air and the Sussex bathing resort of Bognor has been selected as the most suitable place. When his majesty will be taken there, however, has not been stated.

An intimation that such a change in the royal patient's environment was contemplated was given in the medical bulletin at noon time which was used after a lapse of nearly 70 hours, the longest interval since the king's illness began. This was a rather detailed statement on his majesty's condition which was generally reported favorable with continuously normal temperature, a satisfactory pulse and consumption of adequate nourishment.

The king's weight is not appreciably increasing, however, and his doctors feel that the time is approaching when a change to the sea air will benefit him. It is understood that when the king is removed to Bognor, he will travel by road.

Craigwell house which has been selected as his residence is in Bognor itself. Sir Arthur Du Cros, its owner, is well known in the motoring world and in his early days was a leading racing cyclist. He sat in the house of commons from 1908 until 1918 as a member for Hastings.

While no date was fixed for the king's removal to Bognor, it is understood that this is not likely to take place for a week. It also was emphasized by those in touch with the palace that the king was not going away for a period of convalescence but was to be taken to the coast in order that the sea air may aid him in his struggle against weakness.

SITE IS ONE OF FINEST IN ENGLAND.

Bognor, Sussex, England, January 22.—(AP)—King George will have a motion picture hall, a fine ballroom and a remarkably good pipe organ under the same roof with him when he comes here to convalesce from his illness. Craigwell House, where he is to rest, is one of the most wonderfully-equipped of any of the stately homes of England.

Sir Arthur Du Cros spent thousands of pounds on the organ, which by an electrical arrangement can be heard in any room of the house by merely turning a switch. There is a "sun room," too, for sleeping in the open.

ALLEGED FLOGGER FACES JURY TODAY AT MILLEDGEVILLE

Milledgeville, Ga., January 22.—(AP) Charged with having participated in the flogging last summer of James T. Angle, Baldwin county farmer, I. L. Barron, of Millen, one of four men indicted in the case, will go on trial in superior court here tomorrow.

Fountain Hardy, another of the quartet, was acquitted after a trial last May. The others facing the same accusation are Levi Smith and J. W. Hubbard, of Milledgeville.

More than 200 witnesses have been summoned for Barron's trial.

Angles, who lived several miles from here, was taken from his home about midnight by a group of masked men, taken in an automobile to a patch of woods some distance away and severely beaten with a nail-studded leather thong.

Unclad and unconscious from his wounds, he was found by negroes living nearby and helped to a local hospital, where he remained under treatment for several weeks. Arthur Allen, who also was indicted in the case and who was positively identified by Angle as one of his assailants, died recently of pneumonia.

FORMER RUSSIAN JURIST WILL SPEAK ON SOVIET RUSSIA

A talk on Soviet Russia as an international factor by Dr. Pierre Porrohovshikov, former member of the supreme court of Russia under the old regime, will be a feature of the meeting of the Atlanta Foreign Trade club at the chamber of commerce at 12:30 o'clock today.

Dr. Porrohovshikov, who also was a former Russian state counsellor, is a man of unusual intellectual attainments and much experienced in international affairs, and is a linguist of great ability. NORTHCOTT'S ILLNESS HALTS 'DISCLOSURES'

Accused Slayer Overcome by Strain of Single-Handed Fight.

Riverside, Calif., January 22.—(AP) Stretched on a cot in the detention ward of the Riverside county hospital, Gordon Stewart Northcott today was forced to postpone "sensational disclosures" which he declared he had planned to make shortly.

Unable to withstand the strain of his single-handed fight against the death penalty the state seeks to impose for the alleged slaying of three boys, Northcott today had his trial continued until Thursday because of inflammation of his throat and eyes.

When illness overtook him, Northcott revealed, he was laying plans to bring out testimony "which may not save me, but will bring out certain things that are not understood now."

"I can prove," Northcott declared, "by my own testimony and the testimony of others that Winifred Clark is my mother and not Sarah Louisa Northcott and that Sanford Clark in reality is my brother and not my nephew."

Sarah Louisa Northcott is serving a life sentence after pleading guilty to implication in the alleged murders on the Northcott chicken ranch. She claims Northcott is her son and that his father was an English nobleman who died some years ago. Clark is Northcott's chief accuser.

Northcott's plans involved a calling of Winifred Clark as a witness in his behalf. He has received a telegram from her in Vancouver, however, informing him that immigration authorities have declined to admit her to the United States.

RECRUITING HEAD SAYS LOOKS COUNT IN GETTING IN NAVY

Norfolk, Va., January 22.—(AP)—The United States navy bids fair to become the handsomest in the world.

This, at least, is the inference drawn from a statement issued today by H. H. Pankratz, in charg of the naval recruiting station in Norfolk, announcing that would-be sailors are turned down because they are too ugly to wear the uniform.

"Many applicants for enlistment in Uncle Sam's navy are being rejected because of lack of sufficient education," said the statement. "Only one out of every seven have qualified in this district during the past six months. The mental test accounts for many failures, physical examinations eliminate their share and not a few rejections are due to failure of the applicant's character to bear close investigation. Even looks are considered and if the applicant is sufficiently ugly he must be rejected."

The old slogan, "join the navy and see the world," has given way to "join the navy and show the world," said Mr. Pankratz.

WESTERN UNION WINS AND LOSES IN COURT CASES

The Western Union Telegraph company figured in two cases in which decision were handed down Tuesday by the state court of appeals. In one case the company won the decision and in the other lost.

In the case of Murrow vs. Western Union Telegraph company it was held that the company could not be held responsible for a severe cold suffered as the result of an eight-mile buggy ride over muddy roads, which was made necessary by failure of the company to deliver a telegram. The resultant injury, in this case, the court held, was too remote from the responsibility of the company.

In the other case, that of W. L. Brown vs. the Western Union Telegraph company, nominal damages of $250 for the plaintiff were sustained. Brown, the records showed, sent a telegram from Rome, Ga., to Knoxville, Tenn., which the company failed to deliver because the house address named was beyond the free delivery limit imposed by the rules of the company.

The company held that there was nothing to show that Brown was familiar with the rule and, to the contrary, the company, to his knowledge, previously had delivered telegrams to the same address.

In the Murrow case the plaintiff sent a wire saying he would arrive at a given station by a certain train. The wire was undelivered and the plaintiff, discovering this, rode eight miles in a buggy without "sufficient wraps" to protect against cold. He contended he suffered much discomfort and a severe cold which prevented him from working for one month's time.

HE SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief in 2 Months — Doctor Recommended It

Constipation is dreaded not only for its own insidious self, but because of the many serious conditions and diseases it causes. Mr. Lind was a sufferer—but read how he found relief.

"For the past 10 years I have suffered from piles. At times I have been unable to work. I have tried suppositories, ointments, etc., but to no avail.

"Two months ago my grocer called my attention to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I began taking it regularly. Immediately the pain and annoyance from the piles was relieved. I found that it requires very little ALL-BRAN to give nature a fair chance to effect a cure."—WALTER J. LIND, R. 2, Box 137, Appleton, Wis.

Don't neglect constipation. At any time its poisons may take terrible toll from your health and well-being. Protect yourself. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN brings sure, natural relief. It is what doctors call a bulk food. It sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal action.

Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Also try the recipes on the package. Results guaranteed. Doctors recommend it because it is 100% bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, restaurants, and dining cars. Sold by all grocers.

PHONE-TYPEWRITER NOW ON DISPLAY AT DANIEL BROS.

A unique demonstration of another addition of science to quick communication—the telephone typewriter—is being staged this week in the Peachtree street windows of Daniel Brothers. In one of the windows is a sending set of this remarkable invention, which now is being produced for use in inter-departmental activities of large businesses, and in the other window is a receiving set. A young woman operates the sending set before the gaze of the public, and the receiving set in the other window typewrites the messages she sends from a keyboard resembling that of the typewriter.

Large crowds have watched the interesting demonstration during the first two days of the week, and Daniel Brothers officials invite the general public to see the mechanical innovation in actual use during the remainder of the week.

The demonstration is staged by the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph company, officials of which state that "the telephone typewriter makes possible establishing of instant and continuous contact between two or more offices, whether they are in the same building, the same city or different cities. It combines the speed of the telephone, the flexibility of conversation, the accuracy of the typewriter and the authority and permanence of the printed word."

"Happiest Girl in Georgia"

So many mothers nowadays talk about giving their children fruit juices, as if this were a new discovery. As a matter of fact, for over fifty years, mothers have been accomplishing results far surpassing anything you can secure from home prepared fruit juices, by using pure, wholesome California Fig Syrup, which is prepared under the most exacting laboratory supervision from ripe California Figs, richest of all fruits in laxative and nourishing properties.

It's marvelous to see how bilious, weak, feverish, sallow, constipated, under-nourished children respond to its gentle influence; how their breath clears up, color flames in their cheeks, and they become sturdy, playful, energetic again. A Georgia mother, Mrs. H. C. Sheffield, 710 Stewart Ave., S. W., Atlanta, says: "My little daughter, Gwendolyn, suffered from constipation. Then we decided to give her some California Fig Syrup. It stopped her constipation quick; and the way it improved her color and made her pick up made me realize how run-down she had been. She is so sturdy and well now, and always in such good humor that neighbors say she's the happiest girl in Georgia."

Like all good things, California Fig Syrup is imitated, but you can always get the genuine by looking for the name "California" on the carton.—(adv.)

Colds can be stopped at the start!

Vapex was discovered and received its severest test during the influenza epidemic in England.

THE regular use of Vapex is an assurance against colds and the many serious diseases that start as colds. A drop on your handkerchief every morning—breathe the vapor frequently—your head will stay clear and contagion will be prevented.

The use of Vapex could hardly be more simple. The odor is pleasant and refreshing. It can be used whenever you wish, for the strength of one application lasts throughout the day. A drop on both ends of your pillow at night will keep your head clear and relieve the cold while you sleep.

The discovery of Vapex in England during the war startled the medical profession. The immunity to influenza of a few laboratory workers was traced directly to certain chemicals isolated from the materials with which they were working. A new product, called Vapex, was offered for sale and met with an immediate acceptance.

Your druggist now has Vapex. Each dollar bottle contains 50 treatments. Vapex is guaranteed and distributed in the United States by E. Fougera & Co., Inc., New York City.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

WHY BLACK PUSSY FAILED.

All kittens should this truth be taught;
No mouse is eaten till it's caught.
—Black Pussy.

Black Pussy, Farmer Brown's Cat, dearly loves to hunt mice and squirrels and birds. In other words, she dearly loves to hunt. It isn't that she needs them or wants them for food. It is for the pleasure of hunting them. Now, this winter, when the snow is on the ground, there is very little hunting for Black Pussy, excepting in Farmer Brown's barn. So she goes out to Farmer Brown's barn every day to hunt for mice and young rats. She isn't so eager for full grown rats. Both rats and mice are almost always to be found in almost any barn. That is because there is always food there in the way of grain, and because there are so many hiding places.

It was the day after the big storm that Black Pussy went over to the barn. There was no other place to go. She entered the barn through the little swinging door that had been provided for her. Once inside, she moved softly toward the grain bin. She had learned that there was where she would most likely see a mouse or young rat. Sure enough, there, close to the grain bin, was a young rat, very busy eating a little grain that had been spilled. Close by was a hole. He was too near that hole for Black Pussy to make a rush, with any chance of catching him. She would have to steal up on him.

So, crouching close to the floor, Black Pussy stole forward very, very slowly and very, very carefully. Only when the young rat's head was turned the other way did she move and then only for a step. Her yellow eyes glowed with eagerness. Little by little, little by little, she crept nearer and nearer. The young rat did not notice her. He was too busy stuffing himself with spilled grain. At last, Black Pussy was almost within jumping distance. If she could creep just a step or two nearer she would be where she could spring on that young rat before he could reach the safety of that hole.

"That fellow is mine," though Black Pussy. "He can't get away from me. In just a minute now I'll have him." She stole forward another step. Then, gradually, she drew her hind feet under her and prepared to spring. Just as she was going to spring that rat disappeared. Yes, sir, that young rat disappeared! He disappeared right up in the dusk of the upper part of the barn. Black Pussy was so astonished that for a moment or two she didn't move. She simply stared up, as if she couldn't believe what she saw. What she saw was the shadowy outline of a bird and, hanging below it, was the young rat she had been so sure of. It had been taken from right under her very nose. Then bird and rat disappeared above the rafters.

He was too near the hole for Black Pussy to make a rush.

Of course, you have guessed who had taken that young rat from almost under the nose of Black Pussy the Cat. It was Spooky the Screech Owl, who had been driven into the barn during the storm a few days before and now was making himself at home there. From his perch on a rafter he had looked down and seen that young rat. He had seen Black Pussy, too. He had seen her when she first entered the barn and he had watched her patiently stealing toward that young rat. Then without making a sound—for you know his wings are noiseless—Spooky had glided down and picked up that young rat.

Seldom had Black Pussy been in a worse temper than she was when she realized just what had happened. She looked up among the shadowy rafters and growled. "You're a thief!" she snarled. "That rat was mine! You wait! Some day I'll catch you. You're a robber and a thief!"

But from up in the shadowy rafters there came no reply. Spooky was too busy. "As long as there is such good hunting, I shall stay here," he was thinking, and didn't even look down at Black Pussy the Cat.

The Baffle Stories

The Warfield-Cobham Jewel Robbery

NUMBER 19

Just one question concerned the police in the Warfield-Cobham case: was the butler an accomplice?

How would you have answered it?

The early editions of the Chicago afternoon newspapers of Thursday, July 23, carried the first news of the robbery of Mrs. Henry Warfield-Cobham's summer home. It was the sensation of the month. The wealthy widow, who had lived in virtual retirement since the death of her distinguished husband four years before, had been found that morning humanely but efficiently gagged and bound in her own bed, having been an eyewitness during the night to a $60,000 jewel robbery in her own bedroom on the second floor. A wall safe back of her bureau had been forced with chisel and crowbar before her eyes and emptied of its contents by a tall, broad-shouldered and courteous individual who was immediately spotted by the police from her description, as "Gentleman Claude," alias Francois Marchesne, the notorious Quebec cracksman commonly alleged to have done equal time in prison and college. At any rate, the police said, the job had been done with the consummate courtesy characteristic of "Gentleman Claude"—and the jewels were gone.

The police were inclined to believe that the robber must have had information, if not actual assistance, from someone on the inside of the house. But on this point Mrs. Warfield-Cobham was firm; she refused to believe that any of her staff of old servants could have been implicated in the robbery. Present during the detectives' questioning of them all, the lady of the house openly expressed confidence in the integrity of each. Each of the servants denied any knowledge of the affair, and, apparently, with the deepest sincerity. The police were nettled.

Early in the afternoon following the robbery, however, a paint salesman of Rivington—a town near the Warfield-Cobham summer home—came to the police with the following story:

"I was walking along the Rivington road last night about 12 o'clock, wheeling my motorcycle. It had broken down. I saw a sedan car in the woods opposite a big estate. It was driven up into the bushes so far, it looked as if someone wanted to hide in it. I went up and looked at it, and it was a Buick sedan. Nobody was in it. I went on my way a hundred feet or so, and I though I saw a man drop over the big wall of the estate.

"I didn't know whose estate it was. I waited a while and laid down my machine and climbed up a tree. In the moonlight I could see the figure of a man moving stealthily from bush to bush, going towards the house. It was a big house. The man was very tall. I could see him but he didn't see me. He was carrying something in his left hand about the size of a big club.

"All of a sudden, while he was waiting behind a bush, a light flashed up near the top of the house. It flashed twice more—from up near the eaves. Then the big fellow stepped right out and walked boldly around the side of the house. So I thought it must be all right—perhaps some lover or an elopement or something. I never thought it could be a robbery, because the light signals were so plain. But now I have read the papers, and it was the Warfield-Cobham house all right. I wish I hadn't gone home so soon. I didn't hear any noise after that. I went on."

As a result of this report the police shadowed the Warfield-Cobham servants for more than two weeks, but to no avail. Butler, gardener, chauffeur, cook, housekeeper, maids—by all their actions they were conventional and law-abiding individuals.

Floor plan of the second floor of Warfield-Cobham house. X marks the bedroom of Mrs. Warfield-Cobham.

But finally there came to the police through that invisible telegraph system of the underworld—the stool pigeon—a vague tip that the butler, John Ardmore, had known "Gentleman Claude" of old. And Detective Sergeant Hodge, newly assigned to the case, managed to strike up a flirtation with one of the maids without revealing that he was a detective. In the course of time he learned that Ardmore, on the Tuesday before the robbery, had sent a letter from the summer home into Chicago (31 miles) by the chauffeur.

The chauffeur, cornered by Hodge and two other detectives in Chicago that evening, readily admitted taking the letter. But he said that it could have had nothing to do with the robbery since it contained an advertisement to be inserted in the Chicago Daily Sun. He said he had delivered it at one of the Sun branch offices as requested by the butler. It had contained a money order to pay for the advertisement, he said, and the envelope was addressed to the "Want Ad" department.

The chauffeur added:

"John told me the letter was important and must be delivered at once. He said a friend had asked him to mail it a few days ago and that he had forgotten to do it. The writing on the envelope wasn't like John's. I think you're all crazy. Check it up at the newspaper office and you'll find that it was nothing but an ad."

Taking the chauffeur with him, Detective Sergeant Hodge went to the branch office of the Sun. The clerks there could give no clue as to which of the thousands of want ads, received on that particular day had come from the letter said to have been delivered by the chauffeur. But Hodge persevered. He searched all the columns of the Sun, a morning paper, of the day of the robbery. He found six advertisements which he decided were unusual enough to warrant a thorough examination for hidden meaning.

From the ads, herewith reproduced, Sergeant Hodge reached a very definite conclusion. What would you have deduced?

The questions to be answered are:

1. Was the butler an accomplice in the robbery?

2. How could the detective be certain of the conclusion he reached?

SOLUTION TO NO. 19.

The Warfield-Cobham Jewel Robbery.

1. The butler was an accomplice in the Warfield-Cobham jewel robbery.

2. The advertisement which the detective took from the "Situations Wanted, Male" column was really a message in cipher. Taking every sixth word in the advertisement, the message reads:

Rock bureau northwest second bush; nose offers opportunity Wednesday.

The detective saw that this message constituted directions for robbing Mrs. Warfield-Cobham's home. "Rock bureau" obviously meant "back of the bureau," the location of the wall safe in the widow's bedroom. "Northwest second" must have referred to the location of the room, which was the northwest room on the second floor. The rest of the message indicated that Wednesday midnight would be a favorable time.

Ardmore was arrested that night at the Warfield-Cobham home, and "Gentleman Claude" was caught two weeks later in Kansas City. Both men were convicted and given long sentences. As to his reasons for employing the devious method of communication with his confederate. Ardmore later explained as follows to the police:

"It wasn't my idea, but Claude was afraid to call for mail anywhere, and he feared that a telephone or telegraph message from the house would be traced to me. I never thought of doing anything like this, but Claude had heard about the stuff (the jewels) being bought, and he said he could handle the job alone if I would just tip him off and let him in."

Ardmore had had a good record, according to the police, until he had fallen under the influence of "Gentleman Claude" a year previous. The latter is now serving a long sentence in the state prison at Waupun, Wis.

The detective saw that this message offers opportunity Wednesday.

Rock bureau northwest second bush; nose offers opportunity Wednesday.

The advertisement which the detective took from the "Situations Wanted, Male" column was really a message in cipher. Taking every sixth word in the advertisement, the message reads:

Erlanger.

All Atlanta is talking about the excellence of that remarkable organization, the Wagner Producing company, and the delightful entertainment afforded by that most mirth-provoking comedy, "The Torch Bearers," which they are presenting this week at the Erlanger theater. Not in years has a more perfect performance been offered for the delight of local theatergoers than is given by that charming leading lady, Leneta Lane.

Keith's Georgia.

For ages and ages, vaudeville audiences have been seeing painted trees on variety house stages; beautifully painted, verdant oaks; stately palms and handsome cedars, but the thing vaudeville audiences haven't seen is the climbing of these paint and canvas trees. No fooling, that's just what Roy Cummings of the turn of Cummings and Florence Roberts does, though, at Keith's Georgia this week where they headline an unusually high-grade bill of vaudeville. The feature picture is "The Case of Lena Smith," featuring blonde Esther Ralston.

Howard.

Capacity audiences are thoroughly enjoying Nancy Carroll and Gary Cooper in the delightful opus, "The Shopworn Angel," Paramount's first 1929 hit. This story tells of the touching romance of a Broadway butterfly and a Texas doughboy who is stationed outside of New York awaiting orders to sail to France. Miss Carroll is hailed the new "It" girl of the screen and vivaciously lives her part. There are plenty of thrills, laughs and tears in this piognant tale.

On the same bill is Chic Sale in a clever Movietone sketch, also Gertrude Lawrence. The whole bill is one of pure entertainment from beginning to end.

Metropolitan.

Judging from the remarks of the people who have seen it, the Metropolitan's current attraction, Richard Barthelmess' latest screen production, "Scarlet Seas," is one of the best pictures that star has made in quite some time. Betty Compson plays opposite the star in the picture, which is the melodramatic story of a man who couldn't help loving a woman he wanted to hate. Johnny Burke, promising comedian, is seen in Mack Sennett's "Clucked on the Corner," a riproaring comedy.

Rialto.

The Rialto is offering this week a picture of strong merits, "The Spieler," featuring Rene Adoree. Miss Adoree plays the role of a high diver, a part admirably suited to her for keen and authentic interpretation, she having been born and reared beneath a carnival tent in Lille, France. The story is of carnival life with its romance and harassing political intrigues. It is colorful, fascinating and filled with thrills. Also on the bill are two delightful Vitaphone acts.

Alamo No. 2.

That there is good in the worst of humankind and bad in the best is interestingly revealed as an incident to the theme of "Rose of the Bowery," the new picture to be shown at the Alamo No. 2 Wednesday, featuring Edna Murphy and Johnny Walker. "Rose of the Bowery" is the story of a child who is reared in the East Side tenements without the care of a mother and with a notorious gang leader as her foster father.

Empire.

With Hal Mayfield's Melody Masters headlining the big bill tonight, the Empire theater today and tonight will offer Richard Barthelmess in one of his finest pictures, "The Wheel of Chance." Managing Director Alpha Fowler recently signed the Mayfield Melody Masters to exclusive theatrical appearance at the Empire theater every Wednesday night and they are expected to prove one of the biggest hits of the entire year in community theater circles. "The Wheel of Chance" is a gripping portrayal of the overwhelming part chance plays in life; how it may turn an innocent man into a murderer.

Ponce de Leon.

The thrill of the pulsing presses of a metropolitan newspaper; the ever-watchful spirit that permeates the editorial rooms of a great daily and the ceaseless action that enlivens the life of a reporter, are elements of genuine screen entertainment in the Pathe-De Mille picture, "Let 'er Go, Gallegher!" at the Ponce de Leon theater today. "Let 'er Go, Gallegher!" is a screen story by Elliott Clawson, with Harrison Ford, Elinor Fair and Ivan Lebedeff in the leading roles.

81 Theater.

"Birth of the Blues," sensational colored revue success which Friday night appears before a white audience at the 81 theater, is witnessing heavy advance seat sales here, according to announcement Tuesday by Manager Tom Bailey, of the Decatur street playhouse. "Birth of the Blues" features Doc Fogo, known as "the funniest of colored comedians," and a national stage figure; Watts & Ringgold and Harold Brown, a trio of additional comedians of high rank; Anita Wilkins, "the Dusky Songbird," and Felton & Felton, tap dancers par excellence. In addition, a big chorus adds pep to a show heralded as the best of the current season at the 81. Seats are on sale at Jacobs' at Five Points and at the theater box office.

Bull Stock Market in Spots Resumed, Anaconda and Chile Steel Common Featuring Buying Activities.

New York, January 22.—The fast pace of the bull stock market in spots during the past year was resumed today, blocks of 5,000, 10,000, 15,000 and even 20,000 shares of Anaconda, Chile, Steel common changing hands with the last named soaring in the noon hour seven points above last night's closing to a new high for all time above 190. This price is equal to 266, including the 40 per cent stock dividend.

Wall street is predicting that the December earnings statement next Tuesday will show $4 a share for steel common. This would compare with $3.31 earned for the September quarter and with only $1.05 for the December, 1927, quarter. If $4 is reported for the December quarter it will make $12 for the year for the common on stock receiving $7 in dividends. The action of Steel common certainly indicates that the shareholders will get this year something more than the regular dividend. The directors meet next Tuesday to act on dividends.

Anaconda directors announced today that the holders of the outstanding minority Chile stock would be offered 73 shares of Anaconda for 100 shares of Chile. Anaconda now owns a majority of Chile. Today Chile raised its quarterly dividend to 87 1-2 cents. Three months ago it was raised from 62 1-2 cents to 75. Anaconda getting more from Chile is expected to raise its divident. A special meeting of Anaconda shareholders is called for March 14 to increase the authorized stock to take care of the Chile shares expected to be turned in for exchange for Anaconda shares.

All Coppers Helped.

All copper shares were helped by another advance of one-quarter of a cent in price of domestic metal to 17 cents a pound. This is the highest level at which copper has sold in five years. Copper shares were also helped by rumors of important mergers of copper companies this year. Wall street figures that elimination of copper companies through mergers will help maintain the selling price of copper at its existing high level.

On the basis of the offer to exchange Anaconda for Chile it was figured that Chile was worth $92 a share and Anaconda $127. These prices were touched just before the offer was announced, afterwards declining. Evidently those who have been buying these stocks recently know exactly when to stop.

Johns-Manville was again active, climbing 7 points during the early trading. The stock of the company is closely held by strong banking interests and associates. Insiders say that earnings are good with the outlook bright.

DuPont Shares Active.

The recently split up DuPont shares were traded in for the first time today. The opening price was 155 3-4. Then there was a rapid advance to 173 before any profit taking occurred. The new shares promise to step as lively as the old stock.

A renewal rate of 6 per cent for call money with offerings larger than the demand and with plenty of money outside at 5, helped the stock market. Announcement of $2,500,000 gold coming from London also helped, despite resumed talk of a coming advance in the rediscount rate at London to check the outflow of gold. A higher rediscount rate at London would attract funds from here, the effects of which would be to make money here temporarily at least higher. There was no change today in time money.

The offering of 750,000 shares of the new Prudential Investment Trust at 26 was oversubscribed. A strong board of directors was announced for the $100,000,000 Petroleum corporation investment trust now being formed. During the past two and a half months new investment trusts have been formed with aggregate capital of something like $1,000,000,000. Beyond question buying of stocks in the open market by the trusts have been a powerful factor in the stock market.

Keese Appointed Musical Advisor Of Publix Houses

Alex Keese, former Atlantan and one of the most prominent musicians to be developed in the local theatrical field, who for the past two years has been stage-band director at the Tivoli theater in Chattanooga has been appointed southeastern musical advisor for Publix theaters, it was announced Tuesday by Willard C. Patterson, Publix district manager.

Coming first into prominence as assistant conductor of the great Howard Symphony orchestra when that theater was opened several years ago, Mr. Keese remained with the organization when the symphony orchestra was cut to theater size and with the introduction of the stage-band idea in theatrical entertainment, became a director from the stage.

ALEX KEESE.

Mr. Keese won for himself a place in the popularity of audiences in the Tivoli theater in Chattanooga, a post he held until his present appointment.

As southeastern musical advisor, Mr. Keese will have executive supervision over musical activities of all Publix theaters in Mr. Patterson's district which includes thirty or forty cities in the southeast. He has established headquarters in Atlanta.

HOWARD TO PRESENT STAGE ENTERTAINMENT

Resuming a policy of stage entertainment after several months operation as an "all-sound" picture house, the Howard, Publix de luxe theater of the southeast, beginning week of February 4 will offer band-show, using a stage band and personality leader each week, it was announced late Tuesday by Robert E. Hicks, manager of the theater.

Mr. Hicks late Saturday signed contracts with the musician's union, thus completing all preparations for reestablishment of a stage entertainment policy at the Howard, and fulfilling a prediction made in The Constitution several weeks ago that such a move would be made.

The Howard manager pointed out that resumption of the stage entertainment policy would not in any way interfere with presentation of the finest sound and talking feature pictures, and was merely a move to provide Atlanta theatergoers with a more complete entertainment.

"Whether talking pictures eventually will eliminate all forms of stage entertainment is a matter with which at present we are not concerned," Mr. Hicks said, "but it is the belief of the Howard management that the theatrical audiences of today demand a certain amount of entertainment presented by artists of the stage in addition to whatever talking picture offerings we may have.

"Variety always has and probably always will be the prime requisite of a theater program and Publix officials believe a reestablishment of stage entertainment at the Howard to be exactly in line with what the modern public desires.

"The opening week of the band-show policy will see the world-famous stage play, 'Abie's Irish Rose' transformed into a talking picture by Paramount for presentation at the Howard and it is confidently felt by the management of the Howard that this week's program, composing this really outstanding feature attraction and the band-show, will give Atlanta theatergoers an excellent example of the type of program we intend to continue."

Contract for the musician's union has been awarded to Bill Matthiessen, son of "Jake" Matthiessen, for year's a prominent figure in local musical circles. Just who the stage-band "personality" directors will be has not been announced.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, January 22.—(Special.)—Stocks pushed ahead briskly in today's session under the leadership of United States Steel, American Can and some of the volatile specialties, activity being stimulated by liberal offerings of call funds, the rate for which held unchanged throughout the session at 6 per cent.

United States Smelting, which we have strongly recommended, repeated its previous high of 70 and the stock continues to look attractive. Stewart Warner, Public Service of New Jersey and Studebaker went to higher levels.

Discussion of the credit situation has developed some differences of opinion and the viewpoint of those holding favorable or optimistic convictions on this point is being eagerly promulgated by operators for the rise. This and favorable trade reports furnish the background for the present sharp movement, which, in our opinion, has gone far to weaken the technical condition of the market.

Those following the move should confine themselves to stocks having a good background in values and ignore the more spectacular and less sound situations.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, January 22.—(Special.)—More special stocks were brought forward in the afternoon and put to new highs for the movement. In the mining group American Smelting & Refining replaced Anaconda and Kennecott, and Union Carbide became the feature of the industrial specialties. Nickel continued to advance, reaching its best price of 69¼ just before the

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, January 22.—(AP)—Fifteen below zero temperatures tonight threatening big damage to the domestic winter crop sent wheat values whirling upward today, outdoing all season records completely. Buying of wheat futures deliveries took on large proportions and was stimulated also as a result of continued talk of bullish aspects of farm relief legislation looked for at Washington.

Prices for wheat closed bouyant, 2 3-8 to 2 5-8 cents a bushel net higher. Corn finished at 1-4 to 1-2 net decline, oats 1-2c to 5-8c advance, and provisions varying from 2c setback to 20c gain.

At first the wheat market here showed a downward trend on account of Liverpool quotations failing to reflect yesterday's advances in price on this side of the Atlantic. Corn weakness, resulting from reports that rains had given the Argentine corn belt timely relief from drought, tended likewise temporarily to press wheat values down. It was soon noticed, however, that buying for European and Canadian sources was under way here. About this juncture also messages began pouring in telling of widespread sleet and of sheets of ice covering wheat fields in the west.

A decrease of 6,298,000 bushels in world stocks of wheat was a later bullish influence. Under such conditions, and with domestic millers reported buying, the day's top prices were reached just before the close, with the finish at virtually the apex, more than 3 1-2c up from the early low level of the day and about 14c above quotations that were current after January 1.

Corn prices rallied with wheat but averaged lower for the day, owing to heavy profit-taking sales as well as to reports of rains in Argentina. Late private advices said that contrary to early reports the rains were light and that dry hot weather continued in many sections of Argentina. There was considerable selling of corn at times against purchases of wheat. Meanwhile, eastern shipping demand for corn today was the best in many weeks. Oats were active and higher, sympathizing with wheat. July oats touching a new top price for the season.

Provisions rose as a result of advances in hog values and in grain. Besides, heavy exports of lard were reported.

Total bond sales (par value) $10,746,000.

New York, January 22.—(AP)—Several issues, including Anaconda Copper, Public Service of New Jersey and some of the rails, climbed into new high ground in today's bond market, ignoring the downward trend in the general list. Most of the gains were in sympathy with similar rises on the stock market. Sales, totaling $10,746,000, were slightly heavier than in yesterday's trading.

Public Service of New Jersey 4 1-2s followed the stock on the big board upward, establishing a new high at 202 and winding up the day at 201 for a net gain of 8 points. Utilities Power and Light 5 1-2s, with a jump of 2 1-2 points, New York State Railways convertible 4 1-2s, up nearly 2 points, and Nassau Electric Railway convertible 4s moved to new peaks.

The trend of most of the other utilities was downward.

Anaconda Copper 7s, after touching 206, closed at 203 for a net gain on the day of nearly 3 points. Chile Copper 5s advanced fractionally. Both advances followed Anaconda Copper's announcement for exchange of minority Chile stock into Anaconda shares. U. S. Steel sinking fund 5s on further rumors of new capitalization plans also traveled into new high ground. Lehigh Valley Conl 5s slumped nearly 6 points, and Kayser & Co. 5 1-2s touched a new low at 130 1-2. Weakness was also displayed by Dodge Bros. convertible 6s and General Motors Acceptance 6s.

In the stronger rail group, new highs were established by Chesapeake Corporation 5s, Hudson & Manhattan refunding 5s and Des Moines & Fort Dodge 4s and Minneapolis & St. Louis refunding 4s. Among the issues to sell off were Oregon Short Line 4s, which fell to a new low, Katy adjustment 5s and Erie general lien 4s.

The oils showed improvement on announcement of a new $100,000,000 oil investment trust. Colon 6s jumping to a new top.

The foreign list displayed a mixed tone, with Italian industrials in demand at higher prices.

U. S. government obligations were irregularly lower.

New York, January 22.—(AP)—The cotton market was quiet again today. Moderate advances on some trade buying and covering were followed by reactions in the late trading. After selling up from 20.16 to 20.25, March reacted to 20.15 and closed at that figure. The general market closed steady, net 1 point lower to 5 points higher.

The market opened steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 2 points. It eased slightly right after the call under near-month liquidation promoted by the circulation of January notices, which were estimated about 7,400 bales. January declined to 20.10, or 4 points below yesterday's closing figures. July, after selling at 19.80 at the start, reacted to 17.78, compared with 17.74 at the close of yesterday.

The initial selling was readily absorbed and the market firmed up during the middle of the day on some trade buying and covering. The comparatively small volume of offerings seemed to promote a little covering or commission house buying. The market became more active during the afternoon when January sold up to 20.19 and July to 19.87, or about 4 to 15 points net higher on the active months.

ERRATIC PRICES FEATURE MARKET.

New Orleans, January 22.—(AP)—Nervousness and erratic price fluctuation characterized cotton trading today due to the impending census ginning report and talk of mill curtailment. March contracts, after advancing to 19.60 or 7 points up, eased off later to 19.53, then rallied again to 19.62, but some selling in final trading carried it off to 19.56, where it closed 3 points net higher. The general market closed steady net 3 points up to 2 down.

Liverpool cables were higher than due at the start here and initial trades showed gains of 3 points in response. The early firmness was short-lived, however, due to reports of circulation of additional notices for delivery of 5,000 bales of January cotton in New York and 3,100 bales here. At around yesterday's closing quotations the market encountered some support when it became apparent the notices were being promptly cared for and January sold up to 19.55 and March and May 19.60, or 7 points above the previous close.

Later the market turned quiet and prices gradually eased back under some selling promoted by talk of mill curtailment but in the last hour there was more or less covering by shorts in advance of tomorrow's ginnings report and January sold up to 19.56, March 19.62 and May 19.63 or 2 to 9 points above the lows and about as much gain over the previous close.

NEW YORK.

New York, January 22.—The cottonseed oil market was active and firmer today. It closed 3 to 12 points higher on refiners' absorption of July and scattered local buying encouraged by the firmness of hogs, grains and crude oil and the steadiness of cotton. Exchanging of March to July also was a trading feature. Sales, 22,600 barrels. Prime crude, 8.75; prime summer yellow spot, 10.20; January closed 10.25; March, 10.43; May, 10.65; July, 10.84; August, 10.93.

The Philippine Insurrection. Fighting North of the Pasig.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

AGUINALDO'S NIGHT ATTACK UPON MANILA (FEB. 4, 1899), HAD FAILED, AND THE NEXT DAY GENERAL OTIS ORDERED A GENERAL ADVANCE ALONG THE AMERICAN LINE TO DRIVE THE FILIPINOS FROM THEIR INTRENCHMENTS THAT RINGED MANILA. NORTH OF THE PASIG, GEN. MACARTHUR'S DIVISION BEGAN A DETERMINED OFFENSIVE.

COLORADO VOLUNTEERS ATTACKED BLOCK-HOUSES TWO AND SIX HELD BY THE INSURGENTS. THE VILLAGES BEYOND SAN JUAN BRIDGE WERE CLEARED WITH SHRAPNEL, AND THE 1ST NEBRASKA, SUPPORTED BY A TENNESSEE BATTALION, CROSSED THE BRIDGE UNDER A HEAVY FIRE, AND BY NOON HAD CAPTURED THE WATERWORKS ON THE STEEP HILL THAT LAY BEYOND.

FACING THE LEFT OF MACARTHUR'S LINE, THE INSURGENTS HAD FORTIFIED THEMSELVES IN THE STONE BINANDO CHURCH, THE APPROACH TO WHICH WAS DEFENDED BY TRENCHES AND BARBED WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS. THE GUNBOAT "CONCORD" FROM THE BAY, AND FIELD GUNS FROM THE LAND SIDE, SHELLED THE FILIPINOS FROM THEIR EARTH-WORKS.

MONTANA, SOUTH DAKOTA AND PENNSYLVANIA VOLUNTEERS DASHED FORWARD THROUGH A RAIN OF BULLETS, AND CARRIED THE STONE CHURCH BY STORM. THAT NIGHT THE AMERICANS CAMPED ON THE LINE THEY OCCUPIED.

Prosecutor Sought Birger Execution Stay, Witnesses Tell Rum Plot Trial Jury

Federal Court Heavily Guarded as Evidence Is Heard That Gangsters Were Protected.

East St. Louis, Ill., January 22.—(AP)—Government witnesses told a federal court jury here today that Arlie O. Boswell, until recently state's attorney of Williamson county, Illinois, sought to obtain a commutation or reprieve for Charlie Birger, notorious southern Illinois gangster who was executed last year.

They testified in the trial of Boswell, three other former enforcement officers of Williamson county, and an alleged bootlegger, accused jointly of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act by protecting the Birger gangsters in liquor traffic.

As yesterday, the opening day of the trial, the federal building was heavily guarded and all spectators admitted to the second floor where the trial is being held were questioned today.

Deputy Sheriff Jesse Wheat, of Franklin county, where Birger was hanged for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams, of West City, testified that Boswell visited Birger several times in the latter's death cell, discussing the possibility of commutation or reprieve.

On one occasion, Wheat said, Birger asked a visitor if Boswell was going to Springfield, Ill., for him to seek executive clemency. When the visitor replied that "I think he is," Wheat said Birger then remarked: "Well, he had better go or I'll send him to the same hole I'm going to."

Roy Martin, state's attorney of Franklin county, who prosecuted Birger, testified that Boswell sought commutation for Mrs. Art Newnan, wife of Birger's lieutenant who is under several life imprisonment sentences, testified that she accompanied her husband, and Connie Ritter, a gangster let at large, on a "collection trip" during which "protection fees" were obtained from liquor retailers. She said that in Marion the men counted the money and set aside a portion for the state's attorney. They left her in the car, she said, while they went to Boswell's office.

C. Ray Smith and William Fowler, assistant state's attorneys under Boswell, and Miss Opal Davis, formerly his secretary, said Birger and other gangsters had visited Boswell in his offices and had held conferences with him.

Other defendants are George Bell, former coroner of Williamson county; H. T. Boyd, former chief of police at Marion, Ill., and Pete Salmo, alleged bootlegger.

It's Unfortunate that all coal looks so much alike

If one could select coal by color, taste or odor, like you do a lot of things, it would be a simple matter to phone your dealer and say—"send me a ton of purple coal." But you don't buy fuel that way.

You must place your trust in the dealer—take his word for everything—including the weight.

So—instead of selecting coal you should merely choose your dealer . . . and depend on him to do the right thing.

We have been paid that compliment many, many times.

Tell us how it is to be used—furnace, heater or grate, and we will send you the best coal for the purpose—at the right price.

HOOVER IS ACCUSED OF CENSORING TRIP

Baker Acted as Censor of Press Dispatches, Pat Harrison Charges.

Washington, January 22.—(AP)—Charges of press censorship on Herbert Hoover's recent tour of South America were brought to the attention of the senate today by Senator Harrison, democrat, of Mississippi, in a discussion of what he described as the president-elect's "censored goodwill" trip.

Senator Harrison said that George Barr Baker, California newspaperman and former chairman of publicity for the republican national party, was the censor. He submitted a story of the censorship charges appearing in a recent edition of Editor and Publisher.

He said that Mr. Baker had been mentioned for the cabinet but in view of the request for two white house secretaries it was possible that there had been some "confusion as to whether George Akerson or Mr. Baker "was to get this particular place." Akerson now is one of Mr. Hoover's secretaries.

"Everybody knows that this censorship was imposed," the Mississippian declared.

The senator did not go into details but was given permission to have the article appearing in Editor and Publisher placed in the record. Asked by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, if the "censor" was the same George Barr Baker mentioned in connection with official documents recently disclosed as stolen from the American embassy in Mexico City, Harrison replied:

"That's the same George Barr Baker."

The testimony before the senate committee was that Baker was instrumental in conveying the documents to the state department after they reached this country.

Stork Brings N. C. Man Great Grand Daughter, Daughter Same Night

Huntersville, N. C., January 22.—(AP)—The stork mixed up four generations in his latest call here and left Henry J. Irby a daughter and great-granddaughter on the same night.

While the 60-year-old former police chief celebrated the birth of a little daughter, word came to him of the arrival of another tiny girl in the home of his granddaughter, a few blocks away.

Both daughter and daughter's grand niece are reported doing well.

REPORT COTTON BILL

Measure Authorizes Data on Low Grade Stocks.

Washington, January 22.—(AP)—The house census committee today favorably reported the senate bill to authorize the director of the census to collect any public data on the number of bales of "snaps" and "bollies" cotton on hand in this country. The measure is intended to keep the public informed as to the quantities of low-grade cotton in stocks, and especially the carry-over, which, it is claimed, depress the price of cotton during the marketing season.

POINCARE UPHELD

Confidence Vote Given Second Time in Two Weeks.

Paris, January 22.—(AP)—For the second time in a fortnight Premier Raymond Poincare today won a vote of confidence in the French chamber. The deputies voted, 327 to 262, to support the government. FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, SHAKEN BY QUAKES

City Terrorized for Four Hours by Fourteen Shocks.

Fairbanks, Alaska, January 22.—(AP)—Residents of Fairbanks and vicinity today were slowly recovering their composure after experiencing a terrifying four hours which the city was shaken by fourteen earthquakes.

The damage was slight.

The shocks began at 12:30 a. m. yesterday and kept the city shaking until after 4:20 a. m. Quakes also were felt in Anchorage, Cordova, Nenana and Curry, but were slight in those places.

Many clocks were stopped by the first temblor, which continued for several minutes. A heavy rumbling in the earth added to the terror of residents, most of whom rushed into the streets.

The initial shock awakened practically everybody in town and succeeding convultions of the earth caused beds and other furniture to roll about.

The quakes seemed to be in the form of a southwesterly movement of the surface causing an undulating motion. Damage was confined to broken windows and displaced articles in homes and business places.

Alaska college at Nenana reported that residents there moved into the streets when the shock was felt.

This part of Alaska has felt quakes several times in recent months.

U. S. JUDGE VOIDS WRIT TO PREVENT EVERGLADES WORK

Tallahassee, Fla., January 22.—(AP) Federal Judge William B. Sheppard has granted the petition of Attorney General Fred H. Judge Sheppard held, however, that the injunction, granted sometime ago at Pensacola by Federal Judge Henry D. Clayton, should remain as a temporary restraining order until a three-judge court could pass upon the case.
